1 I. INTRODUCTION

2 Defendant and Cross-Complainant the City of San Buenaventura (Ventura) and Cross-3 Defendant the Casitas Municipal Water District (Casitas) submit this Status Report regarding the 4 progress they are making toward resolving the issues in the City’s Third Amended Cross-5 Complaint related to the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed, one of the largest sub-watersheds in 6 the Ventura River Watershed. Casitas and Ventura are pleased to report that they have reached 7 agreement on the terms of a Physical Solution for the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed
8 (Physical Solution). Consistent with the Court’s direction at the November 21, 2026 Status 9 Conference, Casitas and Ventura have attached the Physical Solution hereto as Exhibit “A”.

10 Ventura and Casitas wish to stress to the Court and to the parties that they are not asking 11 the Court to approve the Physical Solution at this time. Rather, Ventura and Casitas request that 12 the Court and the parties consider the proposed schedule for the future consideration of the 13 approval of the Physical Solution that is set forth in this Status Report. Ventura and Casitas will 14 be prepared at the January 16, 2026 Status Conference to discuss this proposed schedule and will 15 ask the Court to approve this schedule at the Status Conference. Ventura and Casitas will also 16 ask the Court to consider extending the current stay of the litigation beyond the current April 1, 17 2026 date to accommodate this schedule. Further time will be needed to reach an agreement on 18 the remaining portions of the case and to present a Final Judgment and Physical Solution for the 19 Court’s consideration.

20 II. PROPOSED SCHEDULE

21 To provide all parties with an opportunity to comment on the Physical Solution and to 22 decide whether to support it, Casitas and Ventura propose the schedule set forth below. This 23 schedule is based on the April 6, 2026 hearing/trial date that is the subject of the Order to Show 24 Cause being heard concurrently with the Status Conference.

25 Casitas and Ventura propose the following schedule:

- 26 • February 13, 2026: Last day for parties to submit comments to Casitas and 27 Ventura regarding the Physical Solution. Parties are encouraged to submit 28 comments earlier, if feasible, or arrange to meet with Casitas and Ventura to discuss the Physical Solution during this period.

- March 6, 2026: Ventura and Casitas (and any other parties who stipulate to the Physical Solution) shall file and serve a final proposed Physical Solution and all supporting documents, along with a request for Court consideration of the Physical Solution on April 6, 2026.
- March 26, 2026: Parties shall file and serve any briefs in support of or in opposition to the Physical Solution. Briefs shall be limited to 15 pages.
- April 2, 2026: Ventura and Casitas (and any other parties who stipulate to the Physical Solution) shall file and serve any reply brief. Reply shall be limited to 10 pages.
- April 6, 2026: Hearing on Order to Show Cause Why the Court should not Adopt the Physical Solution.

III. CONCLUSION

This comprehensive adjudication and related lawsuit have been pending for over 11 years. The Physical Solution proposed by Casitas and Ventura will resolve a significant portion of the case, as a first step in a two-step process toward a Final Judgment and Physical Solution covering the entire Watershed. The schedule proposed by Casitas and Ventura will allow parties sufficient time to comment on and assess the Physical Solution, while continuing to move this long overdue process forward. Casitas and Ventura look forward to discussing this proposed schedule with the Court at the January 16, 2026 Status Conference.

Trial Date: Not Set

1 Physical Solution and to address future disputes, if necessary. In addition, this Physical Solution 2 will ultimately be incorporated into a Final Judgment and Physical Solution in the Action.

3 1. DESCRIPTION OF LITIGATION

4 1.1 Initiation of Litigation

5 In September of 2014, Plaintiff Santa Barbara Channelkeeper (“Channelkeeper”) filed a 6 Complaint and Petition for Declaratory Relief and a Writ of Mandate (“Complaint”) pursuant to 7 Code of Civil Procedure section 1085 in the County of San Francisco Superior Court (Case No.
8 CPF-14-513875) against Defendant and Cross-Complainant City of San Buenaventura (“City”)
9 and Respondent State Water Resources Control Board (“State Board”). Channelkeeper asked 10 the Court to declare that the City’s extraction of water from Reach 4 of the Ventura River from 11 April through October is unreasonable, in violation of Article X, section 2 of the California 12 Constitution and to direct the State Board to perform alleged mandatory duties under Article X, 13 section 2, Water Code section 275, and the public trust doctrine, to prevent that alleged 14 unreasonable use by the City.

15 In response to the Complaint, the City filed a Cross-Complaint, and later a First Amended 16 Cross-Complaint, against other Surface Water and Groundwater users in the Ventura River 17 Watershed who it alleged affect the flow of water in the Ventura River. The San Francisco 18 Superior Court granted Channelkeeper’s motion to strike the City’s First Amended Cross-19 Complaint.

20 1.2 Appeal and Court of Appeal Decision

21 The City appealed the decision to strike its First Amended Cross-Complaint. On January 22 30, 2018, the Court of Appeal, First Appellate District, Division Two, reversed the San Francisco 23 Superior Court’s decision and remanded the matter in Santa Barbara Channelkeeper v. City of 24 San Buenaventura (2018) 19 Cal.App.5th 1176.

25 1.3 Amended Pleadings and Transfer of Venue

26 Following the Court of Appeal’s decision, by stipulation and order, venue for this case 27 was transferred from the San Francisco County Superior Court to the Los Angeles County 28

1 Superior Court on or about February 19, 2019, because venue in San Francisco imposed an 2 unnecessary burden on the numerous Parties and Persons who reside or own property in Ventura
3 County. The case was assigned to this Court.

4 Channelkeeper then filed a First Amended Complaint and Petition (“Amended 5 Complaint”), and the City filed a Second Amended Cross-Complaint. The Amended Complaint 6 alleges one claim for relief against the City for declaratory relief and four claims for relief against 7 the State Board for writ of mandate. On January 2, 2020, the City filed a Third Amended Cross-
8 Complaint (“Amended Cross-Complaint”). The Amended Complaint and the Amended Cross-9 Complaint (collectively the “Action”) are the operative pleadings in the Action, subject to the 10 terms of City Settlement between the City and Channelkeeper described below.

11 In the Amended Cross-Complaint, the City named approximately 2,300 Cross-Defendants 12 who beneficially use or who have potential rights to use waters from the Ventura River and its 13 tributaries, including subterranean water flowing in a known and defined channels, and/or 14 Groundwater in the four separately defined Department of Water Resources (“DWR”) Bulletin 15 118 Basins (the “Four Basins”) located in the Watershed. As applied to this Physical Solution, 16 the Amended Cross-Complaint also alleged that the Court has in rem jurisdiction over all 17 property overlying the Four Basins. The Amended Cross-Complaint alleges the following nine 18 separate claims for relief: two claims for injunctive relief (first and second claims for relief), one 19 claim for entry of a physical solution (sixth claim for relief), and declaratory relief claims for 20 pueblo and/or treaty water rights, prescriptive water rights, appropriative water rights, municipal 21 priority, the human right to water, and reasonable and beneficial use (third, fourth, fifth, seventh, 22 eighth, and ninth claims for relief). The Amended Cross-Complaint asserts the City’s relative 23 priority rights to water, including, without limitation, a request for a comprehensive adjudication 24 of the Ventura River Watershed and the imposition of a physical solution. The Parties dispute 25 these claims. This Physical Solution resolves these disputes over Ventura’s Amended Cross-26 Complaint as they relate to the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed by establishing an approach to 27
28

1 maintain and enhance the suitable habitat for the Ventura River Steelhead Population in the San 2 Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed.

3 1.4 Service of Parties and Default

4 On or about November 21, 2019, the Court granted the City’s motion to approve a notice 5 of adjudication and form answer pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 836. In accordance 6 with the Court’s order and pursuant to the Amended Cross-Complaint, and as specific to this 7 Physical Solution, the City has served or provided notice to: (1) all property owners overlying the 8 Basins; (2) all property owners whose property is contiguous to San Antonio Creek or its 9 tributaries, other than the federal government; and (3) all known holders of appropriative water 10 rights to San Antonio Creek or its tributaries, other than the federal government. On or about 11 April 15, 2021, the City filed its Notice of Completion of Mailing in accordance with Code of 12 Civil Procedure section 836(e). The City has also filed all required proofs of personal service and 13 has processed all required notices of default for Parties who have failed to appear in the Action.

14 A complete list of all Cross-Defendants located within the San Antonio Creek Sub-15 Watershed covered by this Physical Solution is contained in Exhibit “D” to this Physical 16 Solution. Exhibit “D” lists all known parcels that (1) are owned by Cross-Defendants and/or (2) 17 are overlying the Basins.⁴ Exhibit “D” thus provides a list of parcels known to be bound by the 18 Physical Solution, but it does not necessarily constitute a complete and exhaustive list of parcels 19 that are bound or will be bound by the Physical Solution now or in the future.

20 Numerous Cross-Defendants located within the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed have 21 previously filed Stipulations to be bound by this Physical Solution. A list of those Cross-22 Defendants is also contained in Exhibit “D” to this Physical Solution.

23 Numerous Cross-Defendants have failed to stipulate to the Physical Solution, have not 24 responded timely, or at all, to the Amended Cross-Complaint, and their defaults have been 25 entered. Notice of this Physical Solution has been given to the defaulted Cross-Defendants,

⁴ On September 3, 2019, DWR provided a data file to the City containing information for all parcels overlying the 28 Basins, and the City has inserted the assessor parcel numbers for all of those parcels into Exhibit “D”.

1 together with the opportunity to be heard regarding this Physical Solution. All defaulted Cross-
2 Defendants, and their successors and assigns, are subject to the terms of the Physical Solution, 3 and this Court’s continuing jurisdiction as set forth herein. Default judgment will be entered as to 4 these defaulted Cross-Defendants when a Final Judgment and Physical Solution is entered in the 5 Action.

6 In accordance with Code of Civil Procedure section 836, the City provided notice of this 7 Action to all property owners who were not otherwise named Parties to this Action and who own 8 property overlying the Basins. Property owners who elected to become Parties to this Action are 9 bound by this Physical Solution as Parties. Consistent with Code of Civil Procedure section 10 836(k), property owners who did not elect to become Parties are also bound by this Physical 11 Solution through the Court’s in rem jurisdiction of their property. Therefore, all Persons holding 12 fee title to real property overlying the Ojai and Upper Ojai Basins, whether or not they chose to 13 become a Party in this Action, are subject to the terms of this Physical Solution.

14 1.5 Answers, Cross-Complaints, and Intervention

15 The Court approved two form answers for use in this Action, (1) “Form Answer” for 16 overlying landowners who received mailed notice of the Action and (2) “Court-Approved Answer 17 for Cross-Defendants Named in the City of San Buenaventura’s Third Amended Cross-18 Complaint.” Certain Cross-Defendants within the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed answered 19 the Amended Cross-Complaint by filing the “Court-Approved Answer for Cross-Defendants 20 Named in the City of San Buenaventura’s Third Amended Cross-Complaint” or by filing some 21 other answer thereto. Certain other property owners in the Basins, including but not limited to 22 those to whom the City provided required notice in accordance with Code of Civil Procedure 23 section 836, elected to become Parties in this action by filing the “Form Answer.”

24 On or about December 6, 2019, the Court granted the unopposed motions of the State 25 Board and the California Department of Fish & Wildlife (“CDFW”) to intervene in the Action, 26 specifically in the Amended Cross-Complaint under Code of Civil Procedure section 387, 27 subdivision (d)(2). The State Board and CDFW, with Court approval, elected not to file either a 28

1 complaint or answer in intervention, but instead filed notices of appearance in connection with the 2 Amended Cross-Complaint, subjecting themselves to the Court’s jurisdiction as Bound Parties
3 and in the absence of their tendering an affirmative pleading, limiting themselves to the issues 4 raised in the existing pleadings in the Action.

5 1.6 City Settlement

6 On or about September 30, 2019, Channelkeeper and the City entered into a settlement 7 agreement that resulted in the partial dismissal of Channelkeeper’s cause of action against the 8 City, pending entry of this Physical Solution (“City Settlement”). On or about August 20, 2020, 9 Channelkeeper and the City agreed to amend the City Settlement. The City Settlement, as 10 amended, included a full waiver and release of Channelkeeper’s claims, other than to a claim for 11 certain specific attorney fees and the right to “comment on, support, or challenge the physical 12 solution proposed by any party in the Action.” On or about June 21, 2021, this Court entered an 13 Order dismissing with prejudice Channelkeeper’s claims against the City as specified in the 14 Order.

15 1.7 Court Order Fixing Basin Boundaries and Watershed Boundaries

16 On January 13, 2022, the Court issued an Order Establishing Watershed and Basin
17 Boundaries. In the Order, the Court established the boundaries of the Ventura River Watershed 18 for purposes of the Action to be the boundaries defined by the U.S. Geological Survey National 19 Hydrological Dataset and Watershed Boundary Dataset as the 10-digit Hydrologic Unit Code 20 1807010101—Ventura River Watershed. In addition, the Order established that there are four 21 groundwater basins or sub-basins defined by DWR located wholly or partially within the 22 Watershed. The Court determined that for purposes of this Action the boundaries of the four 23 basins are the boundaries defined by DWR in Bulletin 118 and identified as follows: (a) basin 4-24 1, the Upper Ojai Valley Groundwater Basin (“Upper Ojai Basin”); (b) basin 4-2, the Ojai Valley 25 Groundwater Basin (“Ojai Basin”); (c) basin 4-3.01, the Ventura River Valley—Upper 26 Ventura River Sub-Basin (“Upper Ventura Basin”); and (d) basin 4-3.02, the Ventura River
27 Valley—Lower Ventura River Sub-Basin (“Lower Ventura Basin”).

1 This Physical Solution implements the Court’s Order Establishing Watershed and Basin
2 Boundaries for the Ojai and Upper Ojai Valley Groundwater Basins as noted above.

3 1.8 Stay of Action and Structured Mediation

4 On or about April 12, 2022, the Court, at the request of the Ventura and Cross-Defendants 5 Casitas Municipal Water District (“Casitas MWD”), the City of Ojai (“Ojai”) and the East
6 Ojai Group, ordered the Action stayed for six (6) months to September 30, 2022. The purpose 7 of the stay was to allow these four parties to engage in structured mediation. The Court has 8 subsequently extended the stay of the Action on several occasions to permit the structured 9 mediation to continue and expanded the mediation to include other Parties. This Physical 10 Solution resolves issues related to the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed that were the focus of 11 the original mediation between the four original mediating parties.

12 1.9 Interim Order Confirming An Exempt Cross-Defendant Class

13 On or about October 7, 2022, the Court entered an Interim Order Confirming An Exempt
14 Cross-Defendant Class establishing a class of Exempt Parties under Code of Civil Procedure 15 section 833(d) who self-identify as diverting or extracting less than five (5) Acre-Feet Per Year
16 (“AFY”) of water from the Ventura River Watershed. The Interim Order specified certain terms 17 and conditions for the Exempt Parties, and directed that any final judgment in this Action 18 incorporate, with more detail as appropriate, the class of Exempt Parties and the terms and 19 conditions specified in the Interim Order. This Physical Solution includes the class of Exempt 20 Parties within the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed and the required terms and conditions from 21 the Interim Order.

22 1.10 The Court’s Jurisdiction

23 California court has subject matter jurisdiction over actions pursuant to Code of Civil 24 Procedure section 410.50 and may hear claims that share a common nucleus of facts as well as 25 any related matter which would promote judicial efficiency. Article X, section 2 of the California 26 Constitution is self-executing and provides courts with jurisdiction over water right and water use 27 claims. Additionally, Code of Civil Procedure sections 830 et seq. (the “Comprehensive

1 Adjudication Statute”) provides statutory authority for the comprehensive adjudication of a 2 groundwater basin as defined by DWR Bulletin 118. Courts also have in rem jurisdiction over 3 claims to right in real property. This Action includes various causes of action including claims 4 related to the reasonable and beneficial use of Surface Water within the Ventura River Watershed, 5 various claims for declaratory relief and a request for the comprehensive adjudication of four 6 DWR Bulletin 118 Groundwater basins or subbasins. Based on all or some of the authorities 7 summarized above, this Court has jurisdiction over the Action and may impose this Physical 8 Solution concerning the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed.

9 On or about March 8, 2019, the State Board submitted a letter to the Honorable Kevin C.
10 Brazile, Presiding Judge of the Los Angeles Superior Court, regarding the judicial assignment of 11 this Action and specifically requesting coordination with the Judicial Council. The Court finds 12 that pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 838(a)(1), assignment by the Judicial Council is 13 not required because the Action was not filed and is not being heard in a county that overlies the 14 Basins or any portion of the Basins. In addition, the Court has conferred with the Judicial 15 Council and has determined that no action by the Judicial Council is required. No Party 16 challenged this determination.

17 The Court’s Order of November 21, 2019 and the Comprehensive Adjudication Statute 18 require that all Persons having or claiming any right, title, or interest to Groundwater within the 19 Basins be notified of the Action. Notice has been given pursuant to the Court’s order and the 20 Comprehensive Adjudication Statute. All Persons having or claiming any right, title, or interest 21 to Groundwater within the Basins have been given an opportunity to become Parties to the Action
22 in accordance with the Code of Civil Procedure. All named Parties who have not been dismissed 23 or defaulted have appeared or have been given adequate opportunity to appear. The Court 24 therefore has personal jurisdiction over those Parties.

25 The Court therefore has jurisdiction to enter this Physical Solution on all Bound Parties, 26 including any objecting Party, to this Action as it relates to the San Antonio Creek Sub-27 Watershed.

1 2. VENTURA RIVER WATERSHED, THE SAN ANTONIO CREEK SUB-
2 WATERSHED AND THE BASINS

3 This Physical Solution addresses issues associated with the San Antonio Creek Sub-4 Watershed. This Physical Solution will ultimately be included in a Final Judgment and Physical 5 Solution in the Action which covers the Watershed. Therefore, to provide context for this 6 Physical Solution, a general description of the Watershed is provided below, followed by a 7 description of the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed and the Ojai and Upper Ojai Basins.

8 2.1 The Ventura River Watershed

9 The Ventura River Watershed is a coastal watershed located in southern California, with 10 an approximate catchment area of 226 square miles. The majority of the Watershed is located in 11 western Ventura County, with a small portion (approximately 4%) located in east Santa Barbara 12 County. The Watershed is fan-shaped and measures eighteen miles north to south and is 13 seventeen miles at its widest point. A depiction of the Watershed is included in Exhibit “B” to 14 this Physical Solution.

15 The upper reaches of the Watershed lie within the Topatopa Mountains, Santa Ynez 16 Mountains, and the greater Transverse Ranges, with ridges in these ranges delineating the upper 17 extent of the Watershed. The elevation of the Watershed varies from approximately 6,000 feet to 18 sea level at the coastal lagoon and estuary. The total length from the furthest headwaters to the 19 Pacific Ocean is over approximately thirty-three miles.

20 Steep mountains and foothills comprise most of the land area in the Watershed, covering 21 most of its north half and framing it on three sides, with a large portion of this area being U.S.
22 Forest Service land or other conserved lands. Land use in the Watershed is divided between 23 National Forest, open space, urban or industrial, and agricultural or rural designations. The 24 largest portion, approximately 75% of the Watershed is wildlands, composed of U.S. Forest 25 Service land (55%) and open space lands (20%), which includes both land set aside for 26 conservation and land currently leased for oil and gas exploration and production. Agricultural or 27 rural areas comprise 20.5% of the Watershed and are primarily used for orchards and grazing.

1 Urban or industrial lands use comprise approximately 4.5% of the Watershed and is divided 2 among the municipalities of the City of Ojai, the western portion of the City of Ventura, and the 3 communities of Meiners Oaks, Mira Monte, Oak View, Live Oak Acres, and Casitas Springs, a 4 DWR-designated disadvantaged community. Most of these developed areas are located on the 5 valley floor near to or within the Ventura River's floodplain.

6 Precipitation in the Watershed is highly variable both spatially and temporally. Spatially, 7 the upper portion of the Watershed receives, on average, double the annual volume of rainfall
8 received in the lower portion of the Watershed. Seasonally, most rain occurs between November 9 and April, with minimal rain occurring between May and September. Based on historical records, 10 the Watershed experiences large differences in annual rainfall volume, with regular cycles of wet 11 and dry years at least partially influenced by El Nino and La Nina oceanic temperature cycles.
12 Multi-year periods of drought followed by wet conditions and associated intense flooding and 13 high erosion events are a common occurrence in the Watershed.

14 The Watershed is home to many species, including the Ventura River Steelhead 15 Population, part of the population of Southern California Steelhead, a species listed as 16 endangered under the federal and state Endangered Species Acts, as described in more detail 17 below. The regular periods of drought experienced in the Watershed, coupled with the historical 18 development create challenges to the survival of the Ventura River Steelhead Population. Natural 19 precipitation does not occur in sufficient magnitude in certain years and/or in drought condition 20 years to enable the successful migration of the steelhead to and from the Pacific Ocean for the 21 completion of its lifecycle. Consequently, suitable sheltering habitat that enables the Ventura 22 River Steelhead Population to survive during dry periods is required to be created through human 23 intervention to maintain the population within the Watershed.

24 The Ventura River Watershed consists of both Surface Waters, including the Ventura 25 River and its tributaries, and the Four Groundwater Basins, including the Basins. These various 26 components of the Watershed as they relate to this Physical Solution are described below.

1 2.2 Ventura River System

2 The Ventura River flows through the middle of the Watershed, draining tributaries along 3 an approximately 33 mile course from its headwaters to the Pacific Ocean. The main tributaries 4 to the Ventura River include Matilija Creek, North Fork Matilija Creek, San Antonio Creek, 5 Coyote Creek, and Cañada Larga Creek.

6 The upper portions of the Ventura River and its primary headwaters Matilija Creek and 7 North Fork Matilija Creek typically have perennial flow from the higher moisture in the 8 mountainous climate and higher rainfall volumes in the upper catchment. The Ventura River in 9 this portion flows through narrow canyon formations with a steep bed slope resulting in high 10 energy flows.

11 The middle section of the Ventura River, from the Robles Diversion to the confluence 12 with San Antonio Creek, consists of lower-gradient braided channels incised into a wider 13 floodplain. Due to the high permeability of the bed material, the water table gradient, and the 14 nature of the aquifer in this location, the middle reach, along with the area just upstream of the 15 Robles Diversion, is often dry.

16 The lower section of the Ventura River, from its confluence with San Antonio Creek to 17 the estuary, is fed by contributions from river channel upwelling beginning just upstream of San 18 Antonio Creek, the Ojai Valley Sanitary District’s wastewater facility, and small intermittent and 19 ephemeral discharges from a number of small side canyons and tributaries.

20 2.3 The San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed

21 The San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed is located in the Ojai Valley region of the Ventura
22 River Watershed. It is one of the largest sub-watersheds of the Ventura River Watershed, 23 draining an approximately 50-square-mile area. (See Exhibit “C”). The San Antonio Creek Sub-24 Watershed is characterized by tectonically active mountains dominated by chaparral and exposed 25 bedrock with narrow ephemeral and intermittent streams. There are no major surface water 26 reservoirs within the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed.

1 San Antonio Creek is the largest stream in the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed. San 2 Antonio Creek’s headwaters are formed by the convergence of Gridley and Senior Canyon
3 creeks. The Creek flows southwest and ultimately converges with the Ventura River above
4 Casitas Springs. San Antonio Creek is fed by four primary tributary streams including McNell
5 Creek, Thacher Creek, Reeves Creek and Lion Creek. A number of small named and unnamed 6 ephemeral drainages also contribute flow to San Antonio Creek.

7 Flow in San Antonio Creek is highly variable and driven by rain events. Peak flow 8 typically occurs between December and April of any given water year and baseflow generally 9 falls to 0 cubic feet per second between June and October. According to the Final Groundwater
10 Sustainability Plan for the Ojai Valley Groundwater Basin (“Ojai GSP”), “the average water 11 year stream discharge is 11,230 AF (Figure 2-9, San Antonio Creek Stream Discharge).” (Ojai 12 GSP, p. 2-58).

13 The Ojai Basin is located within the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed. Most of the 14 Upper Ojai Basin is also located within the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed, with a small 15 portion of the Upper Ojai Basin located outside of the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed and the 16 Ventura River Watershed. These two Basins are described in more detail below.

17 2.3.1 The Ojai Basin⁵

18 The Ojai Basin is situated in a small east-west oriented valley in the Topatopa Mountains 19 of the Transverse Ranges geomorphic province of Southern California. The Ojai Basin is located 20 approximately 11 miles inland from the Pacific Ocean. The land surface elevation of the Basin 21 ranges from approximately 630 feet above mean sea level along the south-western boundary 22 where San Antonio Creek exists the Basin to approximately 2,080 feet above mean sea level at 23 the southern flank of the Topatopa Mountains. The surface area of the Basin is estimated at 6,830
24 acres and DWR estimates maximum storage capacity of about 85,000 AF and a sustainable yield 25 of approximately 5,026 AFY. The Basin’s maximum capacity does not reflect the amount of 26

27 ⁵ The Ojai Basin is also sometimes referred to in this Physical Solution as “OVGB”.

1 available water and much of the Basin’s capacity is not usable or economically recoverable due to 2 its depth and water quality.

3 The Ojai Basin is designated as DWR Basin Number 4-2 and has been designated by 4 DWR as a high priority basin under SGMA. The Ojai Basin Groundwater Management Agency 5 (“OBGMA”) prepared and timely submitted the Ojai GSP, and on or about October 26, 2023, the 6 DWR approved the Ojai GSP. The Ojai Basin routinely recharges and is not in an overdraft 7 condition. (See excerpt from the Ojai GSP in Exhibit “E”).

8 The boundaries of the Ojai Basin are mainly mountain ranges, where the geology does not 9 allow significant alluvial Groundwater flow or storage. To the north of Ojai, the Topatopa 10 Mountains form the Basin boundary. Black Mountain and the Santa Ana fault bound the Basin to 11 the south, and non-permeable rock units along the eastern and western edges prevent significant 12 Groundwater flow into or out of the basin. The Ojai Basin is separated from the Upper Ojai Basin
13 by the Santa Ana-Arroyo Parida Fault and Black Mountain. The western boundary of the Ojai 14 Basin is a bedrock high and associated groundwater divide that separates the Ojai Basin from the 15 Upper Ventura Basin.

16 The Ojai Basin has areas of confined, semi-confined, and unconfined Groundwater.
17 Water-bearing units of the OVGB include alluvial deposits and fractures and interstices of 18 underlying Tertiary rocks. The alluvium is composed of units of sand, gravel, and clay up to 50 to 19 100 feet thick that pinch out toward the lateral edges of the OVGB (Figure 6) (Kear 2005; 20 DBS&A 2011, 2020). The alluvial deposits are the most productive units in the OVGB, with well 21 yields ranging from 100 to 600 gallons per minute (GPM) (DWR 2004). The weathered Tertiary 22 rocks are typically consolidated and yield minor amounts of poor-quality water, with well yields 23 typically between 2 to 5 GPM, but reaching a maximum of about 50 GPM (DWR 2004). The 24 contact of the alluvial unconsolidated deposits of Pleistocene to Holocene age with the Tertiary 25 rocks define the base of the OVGB. The primary storage units for groundwater are approximately 26 four discrete sand and gravel units on the order of up to 100 feet thick each, which are sourced 27 near the alluvial fan heads in the northeast side of the Ojai Valley (Kear 2005; OBGMA 2018).

1 The individual coarse-grained sand and gravel aquifer units comprising the primary production 2 aquifer are thickest in the northern and eastern areas of the OVGB and thinnest in the southern 3 and western areas of the OVGB where fine grained lacustrine and floodplain deposits of up to 4 approximately 100 feet thick predominate as confining layers creating a multi-layered aquifer
5 system (DBS&A 2011; Kear 2005; OBGMA 2018). Groundwater within the primary production 6 aquifer is predominantly under unconfined conditions near the alluvial fan heads and semi-7 confined to mostly confined in the central, southern, and western portions of the OVGB (Kear 8 2005, 2021). The alluvial deposits are deepest in the central and southern areas of the OVGB 9 (Kear 2005; DBS&A 2011, 2020). The maximum total thickness of the alluvial deposits is 10 approximately 900 feet (DBS&A 2011, 2020).

11 The uppermost confining clay unit, which generally extends from up to 30 to 130 feet
12 below ground surface (bgs), is the thickest and most extensive aquitard. As provided in the Ojai 13 GSP, “[b]ased on available lithologic, streamflow, and groundwater level and quality data, there 14 is a shallow perched aquifer in the southern and western portion of the OVGB that is in hydraulic 15 connection with surface water of San Antonio Creek and its tributaries. The shallow perched 16 aquifer is separated from the deeper confined production aquifers by an extensive clay aquitard 17 (Kear 2005, 2021; OBGMA 2018). Groundwater levels in the shallow perched aquifer exhibit a 18 stable trend with little seasonal fluctuation or response to groundwater extraction while 19 groundwater levels in the primary production aquifer show the effects of groundwater extraction 20 (Figure 2-37, Shallow Perched Aquifer and Deep Production Aquifer Groundwater Level Trends; 21 Kear 2021). Surface water in San Antonio Creek and groundwater in the perched aquifer have a 22 similar calcium-bicarbonate/sulfate water character, whereas groundwater in the primary 23 production aquifer has a sodium-bicarbonate/chloride water character (Kear 2021). Figure 2-38, 24 Lower San Antonio Creek Hydrogeologic Conceptual Model, illustrates the hydrogeology of the 25 OVGB along lower San Antonio Creek as described above.” (See Exhibit “E”.)

26 The shallow perched aquifer generally extends from approximately 15 to 30 feet bgs and 27 is present in the southwestern portion of the OVGB (Figures 6 and 7) (Kear 2005, 2021). The 28

1 shallow perched aquifer is generally known as the Southwest Upper Saturated Zone or SWUSZ.
2 The SWUSZ drains to the down gradient reaches of the San Antonio Creek and emerges as 3 surface flows southwest of the basin boundaries. To protect the SWUSZ from future extractions 4 the OBGMA has adopted Ordinance No. 12 prohibiting new production wells in the SWUSZ. In 5 contrast, the GSP does not require any management actions related to Groundwater extractions in 6 the primary production aquifer to address Surface Water impacts in light of the connectivity 7 assessment contained in Section 2.3.4.6 of the GSP. (See Exhibit “E”). The OBGMA manages 8 the primary production aquifer by requiring all production wells, regardless of size, be metered 9 and report extractions quarterly. Applications for new or replacement wells must be permitted 10 and demonstrate that the well will not impact the overall sustainability of the Basin, as defined in 11 Section 3.1.3 of the Ojai GSP. Based on the assessment of connectivity in the Ojai GSP, the only 12 known direct and sustained communication between Groundwater and Surface Water in San 13 Antonio Creek is limited to the SWUSZ.

14 2.3.2 The Upper Ojai Basin

15 The Upper Ojai Basin is located southeast of the Ojai Basin on the eastern border of the 16 Watershed. It is the smallest of the Basins in the Watershed, encompassing 3,806 acres or 5.95
17 square miles, and has a DWR-estimated maximum storage capacity of 6,000 AF. The Upper Ojai
18 Basin is an intra-montane depression, bounded on all sides by mountain ranges and thrust faults 19 that mark the boundary between mountains and the valley floor. On the northern edge, Black 20 Mountain and the San Cayetano fault separate the basin from the Ojai Basin. To the south, the 21 Sulfur Mountains and the Lion fault mark the boundary of the Groundwater storage zone. Lion 22 Canyon Creek flows through the Basin and under certain wet conditions contributes flow to San 23 Antonio Creek. Under certain wet conditions, these flows can continue on to the Ventura River.
24 The relationship, if any, between Groundwater in the Upper Ojai Basin and Surface Water in Lion 25 Canyon Creek is currently unknown due to the geology, sparse population, predominance of dry 26 farming methods, and comparatively extensive use of imported water supplies from Casitas 27 MWD. As part of the implementation of this Physical Solution, this relationship, if any, may be 28

1 further characterized and adjustments to this Physical Solution may be made in the future based 2 on additional information.

3 The Upper Ojai Basin is split into halves by a Surface water divide, where the eastern 4 portion lies outside of the Ventura River Watershed and drains into the watershed in the Santa 5 Paula area. This Physical Solution only addresses areas of the Basin with the San Antonio Creek
6 Sub-Watershed that have the possibility of affecting flows in San Antonio Creek. The Upper Ojai
7 Basin is designated as DWR Basin Number 4-1 and has been designated by DWR as a very low 8 priority basin under SGMA.

9 3. REASONABLE AND BENEFICIAL USES OF THE SAN ANTONIO CREEK SUB-
10 WATERSHED

11 Currently, the water needs within the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed, regardless of 12 claim of right, are supplied entirely from local Surface Water and Groundwater. At the time of 13 this Physical Solution, no significant imported water is used within the San Antonio Creek Sub-14 Watershed. Casitas MWD is developing plans to bring imported water into its service area, 15 which could in the future be supplied to the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed, but that project
16 is not complete at this time. Therefore, local water from the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed⁶ 17 is critical to life within the Sub-Watershed, to the local economy, and to the health and safety of 18 the region. Local water from the Sub-Watershed is vital for a variety of both consumptive and 19 instream reasonable and beneficial uses. These reasonable and beneficial uses are described in 20 more detail below.

21 3.1 Consumptive Uses

22 Water from the Sub-Watershed supports a variety of reasonable and beneficial 23 consumptive uses, including municipal, agricultural, recreational, and some minor industrial uses 24 under various claims of water right, e.g., riparian, overlying, appropriative, and prescriptive. The 25 municipal and agricultural uses are described below.

26
27
28 ⁶ The San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed is at times referred to in this Physical Solution as the “Sub-Watershed”.

1 3.1.1 Reasonable and Beneficial Municipal Uses

2 Water for municipal and residential uses in the Sub-Watershed is primarily provided by 3 Casitas MWD. Due to strict conservation efforts, urban water demand has not increased 4 significantly in recent decades, despite growth in population.

5 Casitas MWD is currently the largest water purveyor in the Sub-Watershed, providing 6 water to both water resale agencies and retail customers. Casitas MWD uses Surface Water 7 diverted from the Ventura River through the Robles Diversion into Lake Casitas, runoff from the 8 surrounding area adjacent to Lake Casitas, and Groundwater from wells in the Upper Ventura and 9 Ojai Basins, to provide municipal service to its retail and wholesale customers in the Sub-10 Watershed. Casitas MWD has implemented significant conservation efforts to reduce municipal 11 demand, including a Water Shortage Contingency Plan, consistent with the Urban Water 12 Management Planning Act. During recent drought conditions, Casitas MWD declared Stage 3 13 water supply conditions and implemented restrictions on residential irrigation, reduced customer 14 allocations, and prohibited waste. These restrictions included prohibitions on water waste, 15 restrictions on the timing of residential irrigation, and a 30% reduction in all customers’ 16 individual allocations for their non-essential outdoor use. Casitas MWD also operates many 17 conservation programs including free water surveys, free water conservation devices, and rebates 18 for small irrigation controllers. In addition, Casitas MWD offers an agricultural rebate program 19 that encourages greater water use efficiency for farms and ranches within its service area.

20 In addition, water for domestic use is provided by way of private wells located on private 21 property.

22 3.1.2 Reasonable and Beneficial Agricultural Uses

23 Use of water from the Sub-Watershed for reasonable and beneficial agricultural uses 24 supports a significant farming economy within the Watershed. Water sources to support 25 reasonable and beneficial agricultural uses include Groundwater from private wells or from small 26 water companies, with water from Casitas MWD used for supplemental or backup water.
27 Agriculture has implemented significant conservation efforts; specifically, highly efficient 28

1 irrigation systems (drip, micro sprinkler, and combinations thereof) are employed on the majority 2 of irrigated agriculture, irrigation systems are routinely tested for distribution uniformity, and 3 irrigation runoff is minimal in the Sub-Watershed.

4 Agricultural users within the Watershed include but are not limited to members of the East 5 Ojai Group and family farms in the Ojai Valley.

6 3.1.3 Changes in Consumptive Use

7 There was significant population growth in Ventura County from 1960 through 2010, 8 increasing from approximately 115,000 people in 1950 to 199,000 people in 1960 and then 9 increasing in 1970 (376,000 people), 1980 (529,000 people), 1990 (669,000 people), and 2010
10 (826,000 people). After 2010, population growth in the County slowed substantially and declined 11 over the period of 2017 to 2020. Despite this significant overall population growth over time, 12 consumptive use has not grown at a comparable rate due to conservation, changes in land use, and 13 increased agricultural efficiency. An analysis of average daily flow data from USGS Gages 14 located on the mainstem Ventura River at Casitas Bridge (Gage 11118500), San Antonio Creek 15 (gage 11117500), and North Fork Matilija Creek (gage 11116000) indicates that instream flows 16 metrics have been the same or slightly higher since the construction of the Casitas and Matilija
17 Dams in the 1950s and 1960s. Therefore, changes in consumptive use have not had a detectable 18 effect on instream flows within the period of record analyzed (1930-2019).

19 3.2 Instream Uses the Ventura River Steelhead Population – *Oncorhynchus 20 mykiss

21 The Watershed, including the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed, is home to many 22 instream uses. It is home to endangered or threatened species, including the Ventura River 23 Steelhead Population, arroyo toad, California least tern, California red-legged frog, Foothill 24 yellow-legged frog, Least Bell's vireo, southwestern willow flycatcher, and western snowy 25 plover. This Physical Solution uses the health of the habitat necessary to support the Ventura 26 River Steelhead Population as one metric for the overall health of the instream uses in the San 27

1 Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed. The life stages, habitat, and other details regarding the Ventura
2 River Steelhead Population are described below.

3 The Watershed provides habitat for adult and juvenile steelhead migration and passage, 4 holding, spawning and juvenile rearing for both anadromous steelhead (i.e., here, the Ventura 5 River Steelhead Population) and resident rainbow trout (together classified taxonomically as 6 Oncorhynchus mykiss, which is typically abbreviated as O. mykiss). O. mykiss that remain in 7 freshwater throughout their lifecycle are referred to as rainbow trout and have a resident life 8 history form. O. mykiss that migrate to the ocean and then return to spawn in freshwater are 9 referred to as steelhead and have an anadromous life history form. Both life history forms can be 10 produced by a single set of parents depending on a variety of variables. The core goal of this 11 Physical Solution is to maintain and improve the habitat for the Ventura River Steelhead 12 Population, the anadromous life history form of the Southern California Steelhead, within the San 13 Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed, that has been listed as endangered under the Endangered Species 14 Act.

15 The anadromous life history form of O. mykiss in the Watershed has been designated as a 16 part of the Southern California Steelhead Distinct Population Segment or DPS. In 1997, the 17 Southern California Steelhead Evolutionarily Significant Unit (“ESU”) was listed as 18 endangered under the Federal Endangered Species Act. (62 FR 43937-01.) In 2005, critical 19 habitat for the Southern California Steelhead ESU was designated, including approximately 48 20 miles of the Ventura River and its tributaries within the Ventura River Hydrologic Unit. (70 FR 21 52488-01.) In 2006, the Southern California Steelhead DPS was listed as endangered.⁷ (71 FR 22 834-01.)

23 The life history of a Southern California Steelhead starts when a female excavates a 24 shallow nest, termed a “redd,” in streambed gravel and deposits eggs, which a male then 25 simultaneously fertilizes. The egg incubation period between fertilization and hatching varies, 26 lasting from about three (3) weeks to two (2) months depending on water temperature and other

27 _____
28 ⁷ Since 2006, the phrase Distinct Population Segment or DPS, has replaced ESU.

1 factors. After the eggs hatch, the young fish remain buried in the gravel nest for a period of time
2 as they develop (termed “alevins”) before emerging into the surface waters in two (2) to six (6) 3 weeks after hatching. The young free swimming fish, known as fry, remain in the creek or river 4 rearing for a period of one (1) to two (2) years as they grow and develop, during which time they 5 are referred to as parr.

6 Parr eventually undergo a physiological change known as smoltification that allows them 7 to migrate to saltwater (e.g., to the Pacific Ocean). After growing in the marine environment for 8 typically one (1) to two (2) years in Southern California, steelhead leave the marine environment 9 to reproduce in the freshwater environment (e.g., the Ventura River). Returning adults typically 10 migrate to their natal rivers or streams but can also spawn in non-natal streams. Steelhead, unlike 11 salmon, may on occasion (approximately 15% of the time) survive after spawning and migrate 12 back downstream to the ocean to spawn again the next year. Post-spawning adult steelhead are 13 termed Kelts. Steelhead, primarily females, may on occasion spawn two or three times before 14 they die.

15 The habitat and flow needs of the Southern California Steelhead are variable depending on 16 the life stage of the species. Primary Constituent Elements (“PCEs”) have been described by 17 the National Marine Fisheries Service for each life history stage of Southern Steelhead critical 18 habitat as essential to the conservation of the species. (70 FR 52630). The general PCEs for 19 steelhead are described below.

20 3.2.1 Spawning

21 Freshwater spawning sites with water quantity and quality conditions and substrate 22 supporting spawning, egg incubation, hatching, and larval development.

23 3.2.2 Rearing

24 Freshwater rearing sites with water quantity and floodplain connectivity to form and 25 maintain physical habitat conditions and support juvenile growth and movement; water quality 26 and forage supporting juvenile development; and natural cover such as shade, submerged and 27

1 overhanging large wood, large rocks and boulders, and juvenile and adult forage, including 2 aquatic invertebrates and fishes, supporting growth and maturation.

3 3.2.3 Migration

4 Freshwater migration corridors free of passage obstruction with water quantity and quality 5 conditions suitable for juvenile and adult movement and survival.

6 3.2.4 Estuary

7 Estuarine areas with water quality, water quantity, and salinity conditions suitable for 8 juvenile rearing and the physiological transitions between fresh- and saltwater (smolting).

9 3.2.5 Marine Areas

10 Nearshore and offshore marine areas with water quality and quantity conditions and 11 forage, supporting growth and maturation.

12 The San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed plays an important role in supporting the life-13 cycle needs of the Ventura River Steelhead Population. Particularly prior to the planned removal 14 of Matija Dam, the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed contains important habitat to support the 15 Ventura River Steelhead Population. This role played by the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed 16 is described more the Management Plan section of this Physical Solution.

17 3.3 Protection of Both Instream and Consumptive Uses

18 The purpose of this Physical Solution is to protect both the reasonable and beneficial 19 instream and consumptive uses in the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed described above.
20 Continued consumptive use of water from the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed is essential to 21 support human life, health and safety, and the Ventura County economy that is dependent on the 22 San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed for this vital resource. At the same time, this Physical 23 Solution establishes a commitment to maintain and enhance habitat quality and availability for the 24 Ventura River Steelhead Population in the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed that would not 25 otherwise exist in natural conditions.

1 4. PHYSICAL SOLUTION AND MANAGEMENT PLAN

2 4.1 Phasing of the Physical Solution and Consistency with SGMA

3 The current habitat conditions in the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed have developed 4 over at least the past 150 years, and implementing efforts to improve those habitat conditions will 5 correspondingly take time. In recognition of the time scales involved, this Physical Solution is 6 divided into two main phases.

7 The first phase of the Physical Solution is the Initial Implementation Phase, a period 8 commencing upon the adoption of this Physical Solution and ending after the Matilija Dam is 9 removed. During the Initial Implementation Phase, the Management Entity will implement the 10 Management Plan, as defined herein, and will regularly update and manage it based on reliable 11 new information. Progress will be documented in annual reports to this Court, with a more 12 comprehensive assessment and summary of cumulative management efforts in the Annual Report 13 every five (5) years along with coordination on the Ojai GSP.

14 The second phase of this Physical Solution is the Subsequent Implementation Phase, a 15 ten-year period commencing at the end of the Initial Implementation Phase. During the 16 Subsequent Implementation Phase, the Management Entity will implement the Management Plan, 17 as amended to reflect changed conditions during the Initial Implementation Phase, and will 18 continue to regularly update the Management Plan based on new information. Progress and 19 management will be documented in annual reports to the Court, with a more comprehensive 20 assessment and summary of cumulative management efforts in the Annual Report every five (5) 21 years. Based on the final Annual Report, the Court will hold a hearing to determine whether 22 additional time is needed to achieve the Management Objectives, and may amend this Physical 23 Solution based on the results of that hearing.

24 The phasing of this Physical Solution is generally consistent with the timeframes of 25 Sustainable Groundwater Management Act (“SGMA”). Although not required, aligning the 26 timeframes of this Physical Solution with the timeframes of SGMA will promote consistency 27 between these two efforts. As reflected in Water Code section 10727.2, GSPs under SGMA must 28

1 include measurable objectives, as well as interim milestones in increments of 5 years, to achieve
2 the sustainability goal in the basin within 20 years. Extensions of the 20-year sustainability goal 3 may be granted.

4 4.2 The Management Plan

5 A core feature of this Physical Solution is the Management Plan (also referred to as the 6 “Plan”), which requires the Management Entity to implement actions to maintain and improve 7 habitat for the Ventura River Steelhead Population in the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed, to 8 monitor and report results and to revise management actions as appropriate. The fundamental 9 goal of the Management Plan is to maintain and improve suitable habitat for the Ventura River 10 Steelhead Population in the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed.

11 Although rainfall and flow in the Sub-Watershed and the entire Watershed can be highly 12 variable from one year to the next, these variable conditions were present long before human 13 development. The flora and fauna native to the Watershed have well-developed mechanisms 14 particularly suited to thrive under a range of natural conditions if sufficient habitat is available.
15 The most significant changes to the Watershed over the historical period (generally 1929 through 16 2025) have been the construction of dams, water storage infrastructure, flood control 17 infrastructure, increases in agricultural and urban development on riparian lands which resulted in 18 corresponding degradation and loss of suitable habitat. Wildfires over this period also 19 contributed to the degradation of habitats. (see: <https://ojaihistory.com/major-ojai-fires/>).
20 Historical flow records are available prior to 1959 (pre-development conditions) and post-1959 21 (post-development conditions) in three critical reaches in the Watershed: Ventura River near 22 Foster Park, lower San Antonio Creek, and North Fork Matilija Creek. The population of western 23 Ventura County was substantially lower in the pre-development period, and most major water 24 infrastructure projects were either new (Matilija Dam) or did not yet exist (e.g. Robles Diversion 25 and Casitas Dam), and the habitat in those specific reaches, in normal and wet years, were 26 previously reported to be occasionally supportive of the Ventura River Steelhead Population. By 27 1959, Matilija Dam, Casitas Dam, and the Robles Diversion Canal were all completed projects.

1 Additionally, the human population in western Ventura County increased from 1960 through 2 2000. Flow metrics were the same or lower during the pre-development period as compared with 3 the post-development period in the three critical reaches. Over this same period of time, 4 however, habitat conditions suitable for the Ventura River Steelhead Population have been 5 degraded. This information suggests that habitat conditions, and not flow conditions alone, have 6 affected the Ventura River Steelhead Population.

7 Accordingly, maintaining and improving suitable habitat conditions, including stream 8 flows to sensitive areas, while still providing sufficient water for the health, safety and economy 9 of the Sub-Watershed's beneficial users is the goal of this Physical Solution.

10 The actions required by the Management Plan are set forth below. During both the Initial 11 Implementation Phase and the Subsequent Implementation Phase, the Management Entity will 12 continue to update the Plan based on new information. The Court will retain jurisdiction to 13 ensure Plan implementation.

14 4.2.1 Management Objectives

15 The Management Objectives of this Management Plan are to maintain and improve 16 suitable habitat for the Ventura River Steelhead Population within the San Antonio Creek Sub-17 Watershed, while respecting water rights and balancing the other beneficial uses of water in the 18 San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed.

19 4.2.2 San Antonio Creek Conditions

20 To measure progress toward the Management Objectives, it is necessary to first define the 21 current conditions (Baseline Conditions) in the Ojai and Upper Ojai Valley Groundwater Basin 22 areas. The Baseline Conditions in San Antonio Creek are defined below.

23 The health and habitat needs of the Ventura River Steelhead Population vary within 24 different portions of the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed and the different life stage needs of 25 the species within those different portions of the system. Maintaining, restoring and enhancing 26 suitable habitat for the Ventura River Steelhead Population requires an understanding of 27 suitability and quality of habitat pertinent to the life stage habitat requirements of this population.

1 The San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed is subject to wide variations in precipitation, occasional 2 flooding, periodic large natural disasters such as drought and wildfires, all of which significantly 3 impact the surface water flow in San Antonio Creek sub-watershed, its water quality, and any 4 Ventura River Steelhead Population. As a result of the natural environmental variability in 5 freshwater and ocean conditions —such as drought and low flow conditions, ocean upwelling, 6 predation., variations in food availability within and among years, quality and availability of 7 suitable habitat, and biological interactions with native and non-native species—there is high 8 variability in O. mykiss population abundance within the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed.

9 With suitable precipitation and natural geomorphic conditions, San Antonio Creek 10 contains good spawning habitat, and relatively good habitat for young-of-the-year juvenile 11 rearing, for resident rainbow trout and the overall steelhead population. However, there is a lack 12 of rearing habitat for juveniles due to the limited number of pool habitat. The scarcity of pool 13 habitat results in mortality or forces rearing juveniles to an early outmigration into the mainstem 14 rearing habitat of the Ventura River. There is also generally insufficient habitat complexity for 15 juvenile rearing O.mykiss that provides velocity refuges and cover, juvenile and adult steelhead 16 holding and foraging sites, substrate for algal and macroinvertebrate production that are important 17 to the food resources for juvenile O. mykiss growth and survival. The presence of Arundo is 18 another limiting factor in this reach. An additional limiting factor in San Antonio Creek is the 19 presence of fauna that, when unconstrained, trample the stream banks, causing sedimentation in 20 the stream channel and potential spawning beds, reducing riparian vegetation as well as increased 21 nutrient and coliform loading to the creek.

22 4.2.3 Required Habitat Improvements

23 The following specific actions are designed to maintain and improve suitable habitat for 24 the Ventura River Steelhead Population. These actions are subject to applicable permitting 25 requirements, including necessary permitting approvals by the National Marine Fisheries Service, 26 U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, CDFW, Ventura County Watershed Protection District, and other 27 agencies. Upon review by the Management Entity, management actions can be proposed,

1 sponsored and completed by the State Board, CDFW and other entities that are not a Party to this 2 Physical Solution; however, this Physical Solution imposes a duty to support all management 3 actions in the Plan and ensure their implementation. At a minimum, the Management Entity shall 4 pursue implementation of the following Habitat Improvements:

5 (a) Boulder Augmentation Pilot Project in San Antonio Creek

6 This pilot project would install, modify or maintain boulder (or functionally equivalent 7 clasts) material to create habitat features, among other benefits, at locations in San Antonio Creek 8 to enhance juvenile and adult O. mykiss rearing habitat, improve protection and cover from 9 predation, increase structural diversity of habitat, and increase holding habitat as a velocity refuge 10 at higher flow, and over-summer rearing at lower flows. Generally, this project is considered a 11 modification of the streambed and will require one or more permits from regulatory agencies and 12 is therefore contingent on securing regulatory approvals.

13 (b) Arundo Removal

14 At its sole discretion, the Management Entity may provide letters of support to entities 15 pursuing grant funds for the removal of Arundo.

16 (c) Barrier Removal

17 At its sole discretion, the Management Entity may provide letters of support to entities 18 pursuing grant funds for the removal of barriers to steelhead migration.

19 (d) Operations, Maintenance, and Monitoring for Projects

20 For each project identified herein, the Management Entity or other responsible Party shall, 21 as part of implementation, provide conditions for long-term operations, maintenance, and 22 monitoring. Provisions for operations, maintenance, and monitoring shall be included in the 23 design of each project, and the Management Entity shall ensure that sufficient funding is provided 24 for such operations, maintenance and monitoring.

25 4.2.4 Required Historical Flow Condition Protections

26 Precipitation in the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed is highly variable both spatially 27 and temporally. Because of the extreme variability in precipitation timing and amount in the San 28

1 Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed, streamflow in San Antonio Creek is also highly variable year-to-2 year and within a given year, independent of consumptive uses. The Ventura River Steelhead that 3 have adapted to this variability in flow and have survived in San Antonio Creek have done so 4 with population cycles that are higher during wet periods and lower during extended dry 5 conditions. Accordingly, the natural precipitation cycle, in combination with the implementation 6 of other Plan elements, should be sufficient, barring Uncontrollable Conditions, to maintain and 7 improve suitable habitat conditions to support the Ventura River Steelhead Population.

8 Studies by the OBGMA indicate that recharge to the Southwest Upper Saturated Zone 9 aquifer from applied irrigation water in the Ojai Basin enhances natural flow into San Antonio 10 Creek.

11 The Management Entity will monitor flows at Camp Comfort and when it appears 12 imminent that flows may drop below 0.5 Cubic Feet per Second (CFS), the Management Entity 13 will conduct a survey for stranded steelhead and will then report findings to the California 14 Department of Fish and Wildlife representatives to assist the Department's practice of rescue and 15 relocation operations.

16 Current challenges to the Ventura River Steelhead Population are linked most directly to 17 loss of suitable habitat and access thereto. The main actions required by the Management Plan 18 thus focus on improvements to suitable habitat and access to suitable habitat.

19 4.2.5 Monitoring and Reporting Program

20 The Management Plan includes the specific monitoring and reporting plan attached hereto
21 as Exhibit "F". At a minimum, the general condition of suitable habitat for the Ventura River 22 Steelhead Population shall be assessed and reported annually as compared to Baseline Conditions.

23 4.3 Management Structure for Physical Solution Implementation

24 4.3.1 Groundwater Management of the Ojai Basin

25 Groundwater management in the Ojai Basin is the obligation of OBGMA and will remain 26 so under this Physical Solution, consistent with the requirements of SGMA and the Adjudication 27 Statutes and OBGMA's organic law. OBGMA is a special district created by the California 28

1 Legislature in 1991 through Senate Bill No. 534. OBGMA is responsible for managing the 2 supply and demand in the Ojai Basin for the protection and common benefit of agricultural,
3 municipal, and industrial water users within the Ojai Basin and has done so since 1991. OBGMA 4 possesses both express and implied powers, including, but not limited to, powers to act both 5 within and outside the Ojai Basin to achieve its purposes. OBGMA is governed by a five (5) 6 member Board of Directors comprising representatives from each of the following entities or 7 categories: the Ojai Water Conservation District; the City of Ojai; Casitas MWD; a representative 8 of a small water company; and the Casitas-Ojai Community Facilities District (formerly Golden 9 State Water Company).

10 Pursuant to Water Code section 10723(c)(1)(L), OBGMA is the exclusive local agency to 11 implement SGMA for the Ojai Basin. As such, OBGMA serves as the GSA for the Ojai Basin.
12 In this role, OBGMA has obtained timely approval from DWR of the Ojai GSP In Management 13 Action No. 4 of the Ojai GSP, OBGMA acknowledges the pendency of the Action and the 14 possible development of a physical solution. It recognizes that the primary expected benefit of 15 any physical solution would be enhancement of the Southern California Steelhead population in 16 the Watershed, including in San Antonio Creek. The Ojai GSP further states that the data 17 collected under any physical solution may fill data gaps and improve understanding of 18 hydrogeology of the Ojai Basin. Likewise, the Ojai GSP contains monitoring and data collection 19 efforts that would help inform management decisions under this Physical Solution.

20 The Management Entity (see below) will coordinate with OBGMA regarding its 21 independent management obligations under SGMA and implementation of the GSP so that the 22 implementation of this Physical Solution supports the efforts of OBGMA, and that the efforts of 23 OBGMA supports, as appropriate, the implementation of this Physical Solution.

24 4.3.2 Appointment of Casitas MWD to Manage Implementation of Physical 25 Solution

26 Consistent with the findings in the Statement of Decision, the Court hereby appoints 27 Casitas MWD to manage the implementation of this Physical Solution. The Management Entity

1 will implement this Physical Solution in all areas of the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed other 2 than the areas within the exclusive jurisdiction of OBGMA. This area defined herein as the San 3 Antonio Creek Management Area. The boundaries for this Management Area are the San 4 Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed Boundaries as depicted in Exhibit “C” to this Physical Solution.
5 The area to be managed under the Physical Solution is entirely within Casitas MWD’s existing 6 boundaries. There is a portion of the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed that is outside of Casitas 7 MWD’s boundaries; however, this land is largely open space, mountainous areas managed by the 8 U.S. Forest Service and the federal government was not included in the Cross-Complaint. This 9 boundary is unique to this Physical Solution and has no intended application outside of the 10 context of this document. This boundary does not alter any existing boundaries defined and used 11 outside this Physical Solution.

12 Specifically, subject to the terms and conditions of this Physical Solution, Casitas MWD 13 will manage the land area within the Watershed that drains to San Antonio Creek. This area 14 extends from the confluence between San Antonio Creek and the Ventura River in the southwest 15 up to the northeastern portion of the Watershed where it fans out within the Topatopa Mountains.
16 It includes all of the Ojai Valley Groundwater Basin, the western half of the Upper Ojai Valley 17 Groundwater Basin and the other areas outside of any basin but that drain to San Antonio Creek; 18 provided, however, that it does not include an approximate 2-square mile part of the eastern 19 portion of the Upper Ventura River Groundwater Basin, and the portion of the Upper Ojai Valley 20 Groundwater Basin that does not drain toward San Antonio Creek. Casitas MWD shall 21 implement its management obligations consistent with the Upper Ojai Basin Autonomy
22 Provisions of this Physical Solution.

23 Subject to this Court’s continuing jurisdiction and oversight, Casitas MWD shall, as “an 24 arm of the Court,” have the powers and duties set forth in this Physical Solution and shall assist 25 the Court in implementing the requirements of this Physical Solution within its Management 26 Area, as provided herein.

1 The powers and duties of the Management Entity as set forth in this Physical Solution
2 derive from this Court’s inherent authority to adopt the Physical Solution and to appoint entities
3 to assist the Court in implementing the Physical Solution. Nothing in this Physical Solution 4 limits or removes other powers and duties of the Management Entity that derive from their 5 organic laws, SGMA or other applicable law. To the extent those other powers of the 6 Management Entity assist them in achieving the obligations under the Physical Solution, the 7 Management Entity may employ those powers as applicable to help implement this Physical 8 Solution. Moreover, nothing in this Physical Solution changes the Court’s powers to review 9 actions of OBGMA under SGMA or other laws, or alters the standard of review that would apply 10 to any court review of those actions under SGMA or other laws.

11 4.3.3 Powers and Duties of Management Entity

12 The Management Entity shall have all of the powers, duties, and responsibilities set forth 13 in this Physical Solution within its Management Area. The Management Entity shall implement 14 these powers, duties, and responsibilities in an impartial manner without favor or prejudice to any 15 Bound Party. Subject to the continuing supervision and control of the Court, and without 16 derogation or impairment of any of their independent powers, the Management Entity shall have 17 and may exercise within its Management Area the following express powers and duties, together 18 with implied powers necessary to implement the express powers and duties, and any specific 19 powers and duties set forth elsewhere in this Physical Solution or subsequently ordered by the 20 Court:

21 (a) Manner of Conducting Management Entity Business

22 Because the Management Entity is appointed by and serves at the pleasure of this Court, it 23 is not a “legislative body” under the Brown Act. However, because the Management Entity is 24 subject to the Brown Act in its primary capacity as a municipal water district, its meetings and 25 operations may follow such requirements when acting in its capacity as Management Entity. In 26 general, it is anticipated, but not required, that the Management Entity will implement its duties 27

1 under this Physical Solution using the same procedures it otherwise uses to discharge its 2 obligations as a California municipal water district.

3 (b) Primary Duty: Implementation of Management Plan within 4 Management Area (Subject to Autonomy Provisions)

5 The primary duty of the Management Entity is to implement the Management Plan, the 6 Monitoring Plan and this Physical Solution within the Management Area. To achieve this 7 primary duty, the Management Entity shall have such powers as are necessary to directly or 8 through contract construct or cause the construction of the projects identified in the Management 9 Plan, conduct or cause the conducting of monitoring, to gather data, and to take other actions as 10 needed to cause compliance with the Management Plan and this Physical Solution.

11 (c) Autonomy and Self-Management Provisions

12 A core concept of this Physical Solution, consistent with the express intent of SGMA, is 13 to preserve local management of water resources within an overarching framework that is 14 designed to maintain and improve the habitat for the Ventura River Steelhead Population. To that 15 end, this Physical Solution recognizes and preserves the autonomy of Parties within the Upper 16 Ojai Basin to self-manage their activities. The Management Entity retains its authority to manage 17 activities but must do so with regard to this area as provided herein. Parties within the 18 Management Area will remain responsible to the Management Entity for reporting and other 19 administrative obligations established in this Physical Solution; however, the Parties will 20 maintain local autonomy within the structure of this Physical Solution.

21 (i) Upper Ojai Basin Autonomy Provisions

22 The Upper Ojai Valley Groundwater Basin is the smallest of the four basins in the 23 Watershed, and has unique physical features that are conducive to local self-management. The 24 boundaries of the basin do not align with the boundaries of the San Antonio Creek sub-25 Watershed, with portions of the basin draining to the Santa Clara River Watershed. In addition, 26 while under wet year conditions surface water flows from Lion Canyon Creek to San Antonio 27 Creek and then to the Ventura River, the relationship, if any, between Groundwater in the Upper 28

1 Ojai Basin and Surface Water in Lion Canyon Creek is unknown at this time due to the sparse 2 population, predominance of dry farming methods, and comparatively extensive use of imported 3 water supplies from Casitas MWD.

4 The Upper Ojai Basin consists of a number of small Producers and Groundwater 5 production within the Basin is not currently managed. Therefore, Casitas MWD shall, as 6 applicable, oversee the implementation of this Physical Solution within the portion of the basin
7 located within the Watershed and related portions of the Watershed adjacent to the basin. Parties
8 in this area, however, may develop self-management objectives and propose them to Casitas 9 MWD for approval. Once approved, those minimum standards shall govern within this portion of 10 the Watershed. Should sound scientific evidence demonstrate that Groundwater Production in the 11 Basin has a negative impact on flows in San Antonio Creek that are harmful or public trust 12 resources, Casitas MWD may institute demand reduction programs as needed.

13 (d) Annual Administrative Budget

14 The Management Entity shall prepare proposed administrative budgets for each year 15 covering all of its operations, including, without limitation, costs of other needed consultants and 16 personnel. The Management Entity shall adopt their administrative budget at a public hearing.
17 Following the adoption of their administrative budget, the Management Entity may make 18 expenditures within budgeted items in the exercise of the powers herein granted. The annual 19 administrative budgets of the Management Entity shall be separate from any budgets they prepare 20 related to their other functions, although they can be adopted concurrently with and may be 21 generally coordinated with other budgets for efficiency purposes.

22 (e) Employment of Experts, Agents, or Contractors

23 The Management Entity may employ, contract with, or otherwise engage such 24 administrative personnel, engineering, biological, legal, accounting, or other specialty services, 25 and consulting assistants as appropriate to carry out the terms of this Physical Solution, as 26 authorized and appropriated in the annual budget.

(f) Monitoring

The Management Entity may conduct monitoring, or cause such monitoring to be conducted, as necessary to assess compliance with the Physical Solution, to develop additional data to inform future management decisions or as otherwise required. Such monitoring may include, but is not limited to, groundwater monitoring, surface water monitoring, biological monitoring, habitat monitoring, project specific monitoring, or other monitoring as the Management Entity deems necessary.

(g) Maintenance of Notice List

The Management Entity in coordination with the City shall maintain a current list of Bound Parties located within its Management Area to receive notice. Each Bound Party shall, depending on location, have an affirmative obligation to provide the Management Entity with their current contact information. Any Person may be added to the notice list by electronic written request. Whenever any parcel of property that is subject to this Judgment is transferred, the grantor of the property shall notify the grantee of the existence of this Physical Solution, and the grantee shall provide the Management Entity with its current contact information.

(h) Production Reports; Development of Production Inventory; New Production

Certain Bound Parties within the Ojai Basin already file annual Production Reports with the OBGMA based on existing law. Those Bound Parties shall continue to file such Production Reports to the OBGMA as required by existing law. In addition, every Bound Party, other than Exempt Parties, who is required to file a Production Report with any federal, state or local entity, other than the Management Entity, must provide a copy of that Production Report to the Management Entity at the time of filing the annual Production Report with the applicable federal, state or local entity. If the Management Entity identifies Production by a Bound Party, other than an Exempt Party, that does not currently file any Production Report, the Management Entity may require that Bound Party to file a Production Report with it in a format required by the Management Entity. In implementing this requirement, the Management Entity are instructed to

1 avoid duplications of effort, and it is anticipated that the annual Production Report will not be a 2 new requirement for the majority of Bound Parties.

3 The Management Entity shall use these Production Reports to develop and maintain a 4 Production Inventory for the purpose of documenting total Production within the Management 5 Area of each Management Entity. Information about the Production Inventory and changes 6 thereto shall be included in the Annual Report.

7 Any Bound Party or Non-Producer seeking to commence New Production from this 8 management area, and before seeking a Production-related permit or license (e.g., new well 9 permit or appropriative water right) from any applicable local or state authority, shall give notice 10 to the Management Entity of the proposed New Production. In addition to and separate from any 11 other authority possessed by the Management Entity, including but not limited to authority under 12 SGMA or Order from the California Governor. The Management Entity shall evaluate whether 13 the commencement of such New Production would unreasonably interfere with this Physical 14 Solution. The Management Entity may impose reasonable mitigation or other requirements on 15 the proposed New Production to ensure that it is consistent with this Physical Solution. Any 16 decision of the Management Entity regarding the New Production is subject to judicial review 17 pursuant to the Court's continuing jurisdiction.

18 (i) Exempt Parties

19 An Exempt Party is any Party that Produces less than five (5) AFY within the San 20 Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed. To qualify as an Exempt Party, a Producer shall file an Exempt 21 Party certification with the applicable Management Entity, under penalty of perjury. Thereafter, 22 each qualified Exempt Party shall have a continuing duty to report to the Management Entity any 23 annual Production that equals or exceeds five (5) AFY. The Management Entity shall have the 24 authority and discretion to require Exempt Parties within their Management Area to report any 25 Production in annual Production Reports. Exempt Parties may also voluntarily elect to file annual 26 Production Reports with the Management Entity to document their historical water Production.

1 The Management Entity may develop forms and procedures for Exempt Party certification and 2 reporting.

3 They must report to the Management Entity any changes in their diversions or extractions 4 that exceed five (5) AFY. Water extracted or diverted for use in active fire suppression or to 5 protect public safety, will not count toward the five (5) AFY limit for Exempt Parties remain 6 subject to the Court's continuing jurisdiction to address changed circumstances and effectuate the 7 terms and obligations of any final judgment.

8 Nothing in this Physical Solution changes the obligation of a an Exempt Party to comply 9 with any requirement of SGMA, the orders or directives of OBGMA and its reporting 10 requirements, or the requirements of the Ojai Basin's approved Groundwater Sustainability Plan.

11 (j) Unauthorized Actions

12 The Management Entity shall have the power to bring such actions or file such motions 13 with this Court as are necessary to enjoin any conduct prohibited by this Physical Solution.

14 (k) Preparation of the Annual Report

15 The Management Entity shall prepare an Annual Report that includes information on the 16 activities of the Management Entity and information sufficient to document the status of the 17 habitat conditions suitable for the Ventura River Steelhead Population, as set forth in this Physical 18 Solution. At a minimum, the Annual Report shall include the following information: (a) 19 summary of Management Entity activities; (b) fiscal report of the preceding year's operations, 20 including revenue and expenditures; (c) the general condition of habitat suitable for the Ventura 21 River Steelhead Population as compared to Baseline Conditions; (d) a summary of Management 22 Plan elements implemented in the preceding year; (e) production reports for the Management 23 Area; (f) evaluation of any notices of New Production; and (g) any other information necessary to 24 assess implementation of the Physical Solution and to comply with the requirements of the 25 Management Plan. The Annual Report shall be prepared, considered by the Management Entity 26 and filed with the Court in accordance with this Physical Solution. The Management Entity shall 27 seek to coordinate the Annual Report with other reports prepared by the OBGMA under SGMA.

1 The Management Entity shall also seek to coordinate the Annual Report with any other annual 2 reports required for any physical solution for the remaining portions of the Watershed and final 3 judgment in this Action.

4 The first Annual Report shall be filed on or before July 1 following the first full year after 5 entry of this Physical Solution, and then annually thereafter. The Management Entity to provide 6 public notice to all Bound Parties that a draft of the Annual Report is available for review and 7 shall make the Annual Report available on a web site available to all Bound Parties.

8 At least every five (5) years, the Annual Report shall include a summary of long-term 9 monitoring trends and management actions taken or to be taken by the Management Entity.
10 These Annual Reports may be referred to as the 5, 10, 15 and 20-Year Annual Reports.

11 4.3.4 Monitoring and Reporting of Conditions in San Antonio Creek

12 (a) Monitoring Habitat Conditions

13 The Management Entity shall monitor habitat conditions in San Antonio Creek suitable 14 for the Ventura River Steelhead Population using the criteria established in accordance with the 15 Management Plan.

16 (b) Measuring Devices

17 The Management Entity may install any additional measuring devices to monitor water 18 quality, instream flows and water surface elevations, or to measure water Production in the 19 Watershed.

20 (c) Data, Estimates, and Procedures

21 The Management Entity shall rely on and use the best available science, records, and data 22 to support the implementation of this Physical Solution. Where actual records or data are not 23 available, the Management Entity shall rely on and use sound scientific and engineering 24 estimates. The Management Entity may use preliminary records of measurements, and, if 25 revisions are subsequently made, may reflect such revisions in subsequent accounting.

1 4.4 Special Role of State Board and CDFW

2 The State Board and CDFW are Bound Parties to this Physical Solution, but they have 3 certain specific rights in addition to the rights of other Bound Parties. Specifically, the State 4 Board and the CDFW shall have the following specific rights not possessed by the other Bound 5 Parties:

6 4.4.1 Regular Technical Input On Projects.

7 The Management Entity shall, prior to implementing any specific project under this 8 Physical Solution, provide the State Board and the CDFW with an opportunity to participate in, 9 review and comment on the design, construction and assessment of performance of the habitat
10 enhancement the project. The Management Entity must consider any written comments 11 submitted by the State Board and CDFW. The State Board and CDFW must employ their 12 technical knowledge in a manner supportive of achieving the goals of this Physical Solution. The 13 State Board and CDFW may also propose to the Management Entity and sponsor additional 14 habitat and stream flow improvement and monitoring programs for the Steelhead within the San 15 Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed, provided such programs are self-funding.

16 4.4.2 Permitting Authority and Permit Streamlining

17 The State Board and CDFW retain their regular permitting authority, including the habitat 18 projects to be permitted under this Physical Solution. The State Board and CDFW are 19 encouraged to develop and implement streamlined approaches to using their permitting authority 20 to support the goals of the Physical Solution, including expedited review processes and pre-21 approval of specific projects identified in the Physical Solution.

22 5. COMPLIANCE WITH THE PHYSICAL SOLUTION; INJUNCTION, 23 CONTINUING JURISDICTION AND DISPUTE RESOLUTION; RESOLUTION
24 AND RESERVATION OF RIGHTS

25 5.1 Compliance with Physical Solution

26 Each and every Bound Party, its officers, directors, agents, employees, successors, and 27 assigns is prohibited, enjoined and restrained from (1) Producing water from the Ojai and Upper 28

1 Ojai Valley Groundwater Basins except in accordance with the requirements of this Physical 2 Solution, and (2) otherwise violating the terms of this Physical Solution. The Bound Parties must 3 comply with the terms of Physical Solution, may not act or use their powers in any way that 4 conflicts or interferes with the provisions of the Physical Solution, and are subject to the Court's 5 continuing jurisdiction as set forth in this Physical Solution and in accordance with California
6 American Water v. City of Seaside (2010) 183 Cal.App.4th 471 and its progeny.

7 5.2 Continuing Jurisdiction

8 The Court retains and reserves full jurisdiction, power, and authority for the purpose of 9 enabling the Court, upon motion of a Bound Party, to make such further or supplemental order or 10 direction as may be necessary or appropriate to interpret, enforce, administer, or carry out this 11 Physical Solution, and to provide for such other matters as are not contemplated by this Physical 12 Solution, which might occur in the future, and which if not provided for would defeat the purpose 13 of this Physical Solution. The quantification of individual rights and declaration of relative 14 priorities among the Bound Parties is expressly reserved, without prejudice, for future 15 determination as may be required by the Court at a later date, as necessary to maintain and 16 implement the Physical Solution.

17 5.3 Specific Roles of the Court in Implementation of Physical Solution

18 Without derogation of any other exercise of the Court's continuing jurisdiction, the Court 19 shall have the following specific roles in the implementation of the Physical Solution:

20 5.3.1 Court Removal of Management Entity

21 The Court retains and reserves full jurisdiction, power, and authority to withdraw its 22 appointment of the Management Entity, for good cause, or when the Management Entity is no 23 longer able or willing to continue performing the duties assigned herein, and to substitute a new 24 entity in its role.

25 5.3.2 Court Review of Decisions of the Management Entity

26 Any final decision of the Management Entity pursuant to this Physical Solution shall be 27 subject to review by the Court on its own motion or on the timely motion by any Bound Party as 28

1 described herein. The Court’s power to review extends to the Management Entity’s decisions, 2 and nothing in this Physical Solution provides the Court with authority it does not already possess
3 to review actions of the OBGMA under SGMA.

4 (a) Effective Date of Management Action

5 Any final decision of the Management Entity pursuant to this Physical Solution shall be 6 deemed to have occurred on the date of the order or decision.

7 (b) Notice of Motion

8 Any Bound Party may move the Court for review of a final decision of the Management 9 Entity pursuant to this Physical Solution by way of noticed motion, upon at least 30 days’ notice 10 thereof. The motion shall be served on all Bound Parties and the Management Entity. Unless 11 ordered by the Court on its own motion, or by request of a Bound Party, any such motion shall 12 not operate to stay the effect of any final decision which is challenged. To have standing to bring 13 such a motion, a Bound Party must have participated in the applicable administrative proceedings 14 of the Management Entity regarding the final decision in question or make an adequate showing 15 as to why such participation was impractical or futile.

16 (c) Time of Motion

17 A Bound Party must file a motion to review any final action or decision of the 18 Management Entity within ninety (90) days after a final decision.

19 (d) Standard of Review

20 The Court’s review of determinations of the Management Entity under this Physical 21 Solution shall be de novo.

22 (e) Decision

23 The decision of the Court in such proceedings shall be an appealable supplemental order 24 in this Action. When the Court’s decision is final, it shall be binding upon the Management 25 Entity and the Bound Parties.

1 Physical Solution becomes impracticable due to an Uncontrollable Condition, the Bound Parties 2 will not be considered to be in violation of this Physical Solution for the period of time in which 3 the Uncontrolled Condition prevents performance. As used in this Physical Solution, an 4 “Uncontrollable Condition” is any circumstance beyond the Bound Parties’ reasonable control, 5 including without limitation, any act of God, war, fire, earthquake, flood, windstorm, drought or 6 natural catastrophe, including wildfire and climate change; the need to provide an amount of 7 reasonable and beneficial consumptive use of water from the Basins; criminal acts; civil 8 disturbance, pandemic, vandalism, sabotage, or terrorism; restraint by court order or public 9 authority or agency; or action or non-action by, or inability to obtain the necessary authorizations 10 or approvals from any governmental agency.

11 5.4 Settlement of Disputed Claims

12 The Parties stipulate and the Court finds that this Physical Solution sufficiently resolves 13 the current competing claims among the Bound Parties, and that it is not necessary at this time 14 for the Court to determine the relative priority rights to water in the Watershed pursuant to other 15 causes of action in the Amended Cross-Complaint or at this time to establish a comprehensive 16 adjudication of water rights in the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed.

17 The duties, obligations, monitoring and management actions described in the Physical 18 Solution are voluntarily undertaken to resolve disputes and efficiently manage the scarce water 19 resources within the Watershed. A significant portion of the Watershed derives from Mexican 20 Land Grants subject to the Treaty of Guadalupe Hildago and the Act of 1951. The Court has not 21 and need not at this time resolve the question of whether such lands derivative of Mexican Land 22 Grants are encumbered by the public trust easement (See Summa Corp. v. California ex rel.
23 State Lands Com'n, (1984) 466 U.S. 198), such claims and defenses being expressly reserved by 24 the Parties.

1 Transferee shall become a Bound Party, and if necessary, Ventura shall take steps necessary to 2 substitute the transferee as a Cross-Defendant pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure section 368.5.

3 6.4 Service of Documents

4 Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, delivery to or service to any Bound Party by the 5 Court or any Bound Party of any document required to be served upon or delivered to any Bound 6 Party pursuant to this Physical Solution shall be deemed made if by electronic service. All 7 notices or service of documents pursuant to this Physical Solution by the Management Entity or 8 any Bound Party will be made by electronic mail to the greatest extent feasible.

9 6.5 No Abandonment of Rights

10 In the interest of the Ojai and Upper Ojai Valley Groundwater Basins, and consistent with 11 the principles of reasonable and beneficial use, and the public trust, no Bound Party shall use 12 more water than is reasonably required. Failure to use all of the water from the Ojai and Upper 13 Ojai Valley Groundwater Basins to which a Bound Party is entitled shall not, in and of itself, be 14 deemed or constitute an abandonment of such Bound Party's right, in whole or in part.

15 6.6 Intervention after Entry of Physical Solution

16 Any Person who is not a Bound Party or successor to a Bound Party and who proposes to 17 produce water from the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed is required to seek to become a Party 18 subject to this Physical Solution through a noticed motion to intervene in this Physical Solution 19 prior to commencing any Production. Thereafter, if approved by the Court, such intervenor shall 20 be a Bound Party in this Physical Solution.

21 6.7 Physical Solution Binding on Successors

22 Subject to the specific provisions contained in this Physical Solution, this Physical 23 Solution applies to and is binding upon, and inures to the benefit of the Bound Parties to this 24 Action and all their respective heirs, successors-in-interest, and assigns.

Exhibit E — Excerpts from the Ojai Basin Groundwater Sustainability Plan

Executive Summary (page ES-3):

The water budget for the OVGB provides an accounting and assessment of the average annual volume of groundwater and surface water entering (i.e., inflow) and leaving (i.e., outflow) the OVGB. Annual change in groundwater in storage is summed to determine the cumulative change in groundwater in storage over time. Results from the Ojai Basin Groundwater Model (OBGM) indicate that groundwater in storage decreased at an average annual rate of approximately 15 acre-feet per year (AFY) between water years 1971 and 2019. Over this 49-year period, groundwater in storage declined by a total of approximately 750 AF, which is within the predictive uncertainty of the numerical model and indicates that the OVGB has not experienced overdraft conditions. Different periods of records would present different average annual decreases, increases, or stability. The sustainable yield of the OVGB has been estimated to range from approximately 4,100 AFY to 5,000 AFY.

Sections 2.3.4.6 and 2.3.4.7 (pages 2-141 – 2-142):

2.3.4.6 Groundwater–Surface Water Connections

The primary surface water features in the OVGB are streams. In general, streams may be classified as gaining, losing and connected to groundwater, or losing and disconnected from groundwater. Stream–aquifer exchanges are controlled by several factors, including stream discharge and stage, the magnitude and distribution of hydraulic conductivities of the streambed and aquifer sediments, streambed thickness and its variation, the hydraulic gradient between the stream and the aquifer, and the geometric/morphological characteristics of the stream channel (Barlow and Leake 2012). DWR (2016) identifies monitoring of streamflow as a necessary component of the water budget analysis as well as necessary for evaluating of stream depletions associated with groundwater extractions.

As discussed in Section 2.2.2, San Antonio Creek is the primary stream that flows through the OVGB. San Antonio Creek is fed by several named and unnamed drainages, the largest being McNell, Thacher, and Reeves creeks. According to the USGS National Hydrography Dataset (NHD), nearly the entire length of every creek that transects the OVGB is classified as intermittent²³ within the OVGB, with the exception of the lowermost reaches of San Antonio Creek, Thacher Creek, and the Fox Canyon Drain/Stewart Canyon drainage which are classified as perennial²⁴ (Figure 2-36, NCCAG Listed Communities). Based on available lithologic, streamflow, and groundwater level and quality data, there is a shallow perched aquifer in the southern and western portion of the OVGB that is in hydraulic connection with surface water of San Antonio Creek and its tributaries. The shallow perched aquifer is separated from the deeper confined production

1 aquifers by an extensive clay aquitard (Kear 2005, 2021; OBGMA 2018). Groundwater levels in the shallow
2 perched aquifer exhibit a stable trend with little seasonal fluctuation or response to groundwater extraction 3 while groundwater levels in the primary production aquifer show the effects of groundwater extraction
4 (Figure 2-37, Shallow Perched Aquifer and Deep Production Aquifer Groundwater Level Trends; Kear
5 2021). Surface water in San Antonio Creek and groundwater in the perched aquifer have a similar calcium-6 bicarbonate/sulfate water character, whereas groundwater in the primary production aquifer has a sodium-
7 bicarbonate/chloride water character (Kear 2021). Figure 2-38, Lower San Antonio Creek Hydrogeologic
8 Conceptual Model, illustrates the hydrogeology of the OVGB along lower San Antonio Creek as described 9 above.

6 Streamflow records are available for four active and three inactive stream gauging stations on San 7 Antonio Creek, in addition to one active gauging station on Thacher Creek and one inactive
8 gauging station on Fox Canyon Drain. In addition, the OBGMA conducts monthly manual stream 9 discharge monitoring and continuous stream stage monitoring on lower San Antonio Creek 10 (Appendix E, Figure 6, Groundwater-Surface Water Monitoring San Antonio Creek). However, 11 available shallow monitoring well and stream gauge data are limited in temporal resolution (i.e., short 12 length of record and/or coarse measurement interval) and additional data and analysis are needed to 13 quantify the degree of stream-aquifer connectivity. In order to continue to characterize 11 Stream in which surface flows cease for some duration each year.

12 Stream in which surface flows persist year-round.

15 the interaction between groundwater and surface water within the OVGB, additional analysis and 16 continued monitoring of groundwater levels in the shallow perched aquifer, and streamflow and stage 17 in San Antonio Creek is ongoing.

18 The known unique hydrogeologic characteristics of the perched aquifer system may justify 19 separation of the perched system into a separate management area.

20 Chapter 3, Section 3.5, Monitoring Network, explains the proposed actions to evaluate groundwater-21 surface water interactions.

22 2.3.4.7 Groundwater Dependent Ecosystems

23 Groundwater dependent ecosystems (GDEs) are plant and animal communities that require groundwater 24 to meet some or all water needs (Rohde et al. 2018). GDEs can include wetlands, streams, springs and 25 seeps, and terrestrial vegetation. These communities are especially reliant on groundwater during dry 26 seasons and droughts. GDEs have social, economic, and environmental benefits that include their ability 27 to improve water quality, support biodiversity, and provide places for recreation. Depletion of groundwater 28 levels in the vicinity of GDEs can threaten their existence (Rohde et al. 2018). GDEs are defined under the SGMA as “ecological communities or species that depend on groundwater emerging from aquifers or on groundwater occurring near the ground surface” (Title 23 CCR Section 351(m)).

Within the OVGB, 38 individual vegetation communities and 8 wetland communities that may depend on groundwater were identified in the Natural Communities Commonly Associated with Groundwater (NCCAG) dataset provided by DWR (Rhode et al. 2018). The NCCAG dataset comprises 48 publicly available state and federal agency mapping datasets including but not limited to the following: VegCAMP—The Vegetation Classification and Mapping Program, California Department of Fish and Wildlife; CALVEG—Classification and Assessment with Landsat Of Visible Ecological Groupings, U.S. Department of Agriculture Forest Service; NWI V 2.0—National Wetlands Inventory (Version 2.0), U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service; FVEG— California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection, Fire and Resources Assessment Program; and USGS National Hydrography Dataset. Vegetation types less commonly associated with groundwater were removed from these datasets and the NCCAG only retained vegetation types commonly associated with groundwater (Rohde et al. 2018). Figure 2-36 shows the aerial extent of the communities and Table 2-12 provides a summary of the communities by vegetation and wetland type. An inventory of the aquatic and terrestrial freshwater species that may inhabit the mapped vegetation and wetland communities is provided in Appendix E.

Exhibit F — Monitoring and Reporting Plan

1 The Physical Solution includes management actions that will enhance the quality and 2 quantity of suitable habitat for Steelhead migration, spawning and egg incubation, and juvenile 3 rearing within the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed including this Monitoring and Reporting
4 Program (Monitoring Plan). Information developed through the San Antonio Creek Monitoring 5 Plan serves as a fundamental element in the evaluation, implementation and success of the 6 Physical Solution. The general metrics, monitoring methods, and reporting included in the 7 Monitoring Plan follow, when applicable to the San Antonio Creek Sub-Watershed, guidance 8 from:

- 9 • California Coastal Monitoring Plan (CMP; Adams et al. 2011) for salmon and Steelhead 10 developed by CDFW and NMFS (available at:
11 <https://nrm.dfg.ca.gov/FileHandler.ashx?DocumentID=30284&inline>)
- 12 • Integration of Steelhead Viability Monitoring, Recovery Plans and Fisheries Management 13 in the Southern Coastal Area (Boughton et al. 2022: available at:
14 <https://nrm.dfg.ca.gov/FileHandler.ashx?DocumentID=199225&inline>)
- 15 • Allen 2015. Steelhead Population and Habitat Assessment in the Ventura River / Matilija 16 Creek Basin 2006-2012 FINAL REPORT (available at: [\[TITLE\]](#) (matilijadam.org))
- 17 • Many other similar habitat restoration and enhancement efforts to benefit O. mykiss in 18 California and the Pacific Northwest.

19 Baseline information on existing habitat conditions and their function for different life 20 stages of O. mykiss within San Antonio Creek, species composition and geographic distribution 21 of native fish, and limiting factors affecting habitat quality, availability, and access, as well as 22 variation in species abundance, is a critical foundational element of this Physical Solution.
23 Baseline information is available from prior habitat and fish surveys such as those by Allen 24 (2015) and Casitas MWD (2008-present). The baseline habitat surveys proposed as part of this 25 Monitoring Plan are based on a census survey design focused on those stream reaches accessible 26 by Steelhead. This Monitoring Plan is based on methods and results of prior surveys that have 27 proven to be successful in San Antonio Creek. Consideration in developing this Monitoring Plan 28

EXHIBIT F-1

1 was also given to the monitoring methods proposed by CDFW and NMFS by Adams et al. (2011)
2 and Boughton et al. (2022), where feasible and applicable to the San Antonio Creek conditions, 3 for steelhead populations. The Monitoring Plan will be responsive to management actions 4 implemented under the Physical Solution, as well as environmental conditions like seasonal 5 hydrologic conditions, changes in land use, and floods or droughts, that can impact habitat 6 conditions and fish populations on a regional scale. The Monitoring Plan design and data will be 7 periodically reviewed and may be refined, if appropriate, as new reliable and relevant information 8 becomes available.

9 The Physical Solution includes a multi-element Monitoring Plan that will be conducted 10 each year. The Monitoring Plan includes three basic categories, similar to the 3-stage monitoring 11 program identified by Boughton et al. (2022), that are (1) compliance monitoring, (2) validation 12 monitoring, and (3) long-term trend monitoring. These monitoring categories are adapted from 13 the CDFW Ecosystem Performance Measures website and can be further explained as follows:

- 14 • Compliance monitoring includes administrative metrics from the Physical Solution 15 such as compliance with the schedule for implementing a particular program element 16 (e.g., a site-specific habitat improvement project, preparation of the annual technical 17 documentation reports, etc.), budget expenditures, progress on planning or feasibility 18 studies, and other similar administrative elements.
- 19 • Validation monitoring includes physical monitoring such as instream flows, water 20 depth and velocity, water temperatures, area of enhanced habitat, jump height and pool 21 depth for potential passage impediments, habitat mapping to assess suitability for various 22 life stages of O. mykiss, and validating flow-habitat relationships.
- 23 • Long-term trend monitoring includes evaluation of ecosystem responses to 24 management actions and/or natural drivers, including monitoring adult O. mykiss 25 abundance, juvenile fish density and geographic distribution, and species composition 26 (e.g., fish community characteristics, fish species composition, relative abundance, size 27 distribution, and condition). This monitoring will provide trend data over an extended 28

1 period of time. It should be noted that depending on the numbers of juvenile and adult O.
2 mykiss detected each year, uncertainties exist for detecting and evaluating these metrics.
3 As a result of the large natural population cycles and difficulties in determining causal 4 mechanisms, population metrics will not be used as the only basis to determine overall 5 performance of the Physical Solution.

6
7 Developing, permitting, implementing, and reporting on the Monitoring Plan activities 8 will be the responsibility of the Management Entity.

9 The Monitoring Plan will build on existing experience and monitoring infrastructure (such 10 as the USGS hydrologic monitoring network and standard methods), water quality monitoring 11 (e.g., water temperature monitoring network), habitat monitoring (e.g., habitat surveys), and fish 12 monitoring (e.g., snorkel surveys) implemented by Casitas MWD, CDFW, GSAs, and others 13 (Allen 2015) over the past two decades.

14 The Monitoring Plan includes a variety of collection and analysis methods such as habitat 15 surveys, streamflow measurements, and O. mykiss snorkel surveys. The proposed Monitoring 16 Plan also includes, but is not limited to, water temperature monitoring and direct observations of 17 fish health and condition. The Monitoring Plan also includes status and trends monitoring of the 18 O. mykiss population, periodic habitat surveys, and the biological response or expected habitat 19 function (e.g., habitat use by target species, physical habitat suitability, etc.) for O. mykiss.
20 Observations of adult passage and juvenile rearing provide insight into habitat function.

21 F.1 Water Quality and Hydrology Monitoring

22 The purpose of the water quality and hydrology elements of the Monitoring Plan is to 23 assess habitat suitability for steelhead/rainbow trout population in San Antonio 24 Creek. Monitoring includes measurement of both air and water temperature, conductivity, and, 25 where relevant, dissolved oxygen at representative locations of key habitat or where habitat 26 enhancement projects associated with the Physical Solution are being implemented.

27 1. Water Temperature

28 EXHIBIT F-3

1 Water temperature is a primary habitat consideration for the successful over-summering
2 and rearing of O. mykiss. Water temperatures in the watershed naturally vary with season, 3 streamflow, pool depth, shade cover, ambient air temperature, variations in solar radiation 4 (cloudiness and fog), and inputs by both surface water and groundwater. Instrumentation for 5 monitoring water temperatures is readily available, either as standalone programmable 6 temperature recorders (e.g., Onset temperature data loggers or similar temperature monitoring 7 units) or as multiparameter data sondes to measure water temperature, electrical conductivity, and 8 other water quality parameters. This instrumentation would be deployed to monitor conditions in 9 representative portions of San Antonio Creek.

10 2. Dissolved Oxygen

11 Dissolved oxygen (DO) is a critical measure of habitat suitability for O. mykiss. Dissolved 12 oxygen measurements will be made during biological and habitat surveys to assess habitat 13 suitability. DO data may also be acquired to assess diel variation between night and day at 14 critical rearing and refuge habitat locations over periods of time long enough to characterize the 15 habitat. All instrumentation will be tested for accuracy and calibrated as recommended by 16 manufacturer specifications.

17 3. Flow Monitoring

18 The instream flow monitoring for San Antonio Creek will be divided into two portions. A 19 regional monitoring effort will involve downloading data from active VCWPD or other gages to 20 evaluate flows in the Watershed. Currently, there are two active gages on San Antonio Creek that 21 record daily flows and are operated by the VCWPD: gage 605A located just upstream of the 22 confluence with the Ventura River and gage 616 located at Camp Comfort. Although VCWPD
23 data are collected automatically on a 15-minute delay basis and available from the VCWPD 24 website, the instantaneous and daily data are considered preliminary for extended periods of time 25 after collection. Rating curves are updated on an ongoing basis, so values are subject to change 26 and the final approved data are typically not available for three to four months after collection.

27 28 EXHIBIT F-4

1 Once final data are acquired, they will be reviewed for completeness, and the flow data will be 2 aggregated on a monthly and annual basis.

3 In addition to the regional instream flow monitoring, a site-specific instream flow 4 Monitoring Plan is proposed for areas where critical habitat elements are located and/or at 5 locations where Physical Solution conservation measures are proposed or implemented. The 6 intent of these gages is to provide detailed site-specific streamflow data during lower flow 7 seasons, and to characterize flows at or near locations of implemented habitat enhancement 8 actions. The site-specific streamflow monitoring will involve establishing temporary gaging 9 stations early in each post-storm season. These gaging stations, or similar instrumentation, will 10 allow for the collection of water level data from a removable stilling well, installed in the river 11 channel, outfitted with a recording pressure transducer.

12 Once the supplemental streamflow measurement locations are identified and installed, 13 periodic transect surveys will be performed following standard protocols, oriented perpendicular 14 to the river to collect surface-water velocity and water depth data that will be used to develop a 15 site-specific stage-discharge rating curve for each of the flow monitoring locations. Using the 16 rating curves, discharge values can be calculated for any period of time that depth data was 17 recorded by the transducers. The transducers will be programmed to collect depth data on an 18 hourly or more frequent basis with data downloaded monthly or quarterly during the lower-flow 19 spring, summer, and fall months. Supplemental depth and velocity surveys to update the rating 20 curve would also be conducted on a periodic basis, as needed. Supplemental instream flow 21 measurement equipment will be removed from San Antonio Creek prior to the high-flow winter 22 period. Instream flow data collected each year will be analyzed, summarized, and compared to 23 the biological observations for each annual technical documentation report.

24 F.2 Fish and Habitat Monitoring

25 This Monitoring Plan has been developed to document habitat conditions, abundance, life 26 history stages, fish condition, and distribution of O. mykiss and other fish in San Antonio Creek.
27 The monitoring efforts will be used to develop technical information on the O. mykiss population 28

1 and habitat in San Antonio Creek for use in managing habitat conditions and evaluating the 2 performance of management actions for the benefit of O. mykiss. The Monitoring Plan objectives 3 include:

- 4 • Detect and evaluate the effects of implementing the Physical Solution and 5 document other factors that may affect the O. mykiss population.
- 6 • Determine the effectiveness and benefits to O. mykiss (of or from) the 7 restoration/enhancement actions described in the Physical Solution.
- 8 • Refine and develop monitoring efforts and management actions based on the best 9 available scientific data.

10 To accomplish these objectives, this multifaceted Monitoring Plan includes biologically 11 based monitoring of status and trends for O. mykiss life history stage abundance and distribution.
12 The monitoring protocols follow, where applicable and feasible, those identified and described in 13 several CDFW documents, including California Salmonid Stream Habitat Restoration
14 Manual (Flosi et al. 2002; 2010 updated Fourth Edition), and as later reflected in CDFW 15 California Fish Bulletin 180, California Coastal Salmonid Population Monitoring: Strategy, 16 Design and Methods (Adams et al. 2011) which has recently been updated by Boughton et al.
17 (2022: Fish. Bulletin 1821). The fish monitoring activities also include consideration of factors 18 that affect and limit O. mykiss production and survival, including monitoring changes in habitat 19 conditions, instream flow, water quality, and lagoon and estuary breaching, which affects both 20 smolt and steelhead migration opportunities. As discussed below, fish monitoring includes 21 juvenile O. mykiss snorkel surveys, adult O. mykiss monitoring, O. mykiss population genetic 22 evaluation, and periodic assessment of the quality and availability of habitat suitable for 23 migration by adult and juvenile O. mykiss, spawning and egg incubation, and juvenile rearing.

24 1. O. mykiss Monitoring

25 Snorkel surveys were selected as the preferred monitoring method to eliminate incidental 26 take of O. mykiss during the early phases of Physical Solution implementation. As the Physical 27 Solution improves habitat conditions, and the O. mykiss population becomes more robust, 28

1 refinements or additions to the Monitoring Plan, such as the addition of electrofishing as 2 recommended by Boughton et al. (2022), may be considered. Snorkel and redd surveys will be 3 used to:

- 4 • Characterize the abundance, life history stages, geographic distribution of O.
5 mykiss population in San Antonio Creek.
- 6 • Develop estimates of production (e.g., number of juveniles per spawning adult), 7 density (e.g., number of juveniles per 100 square meters [m²]) for each reach surveyed, 8 and an index of O. mykiss abundance for each study reach.
- 9 • Annually monitor the species compositions, abundance, geographic distribution, 10 and size classes of native and non-native fish observed in the snorkel surveys in San 11 Antonio Creek.

12 Snorkeling (i.e., direct observation) is an effective monitoring method when depths are 13 sufficient to observe enough of a sample habitat unit (e.g., pool, glide, and riffle habitat) that 14 statistical estimates can be calculated. For application to the Physical Solution at this time, 15 sampling of O. mykiss by direct observation is the preferred methodology. Sampling will 16 generally progress from downstream study sites to upstream sites with the majority of surveys 17 occurring during the critical low-flow periods, and supplemental sampling as needed to 18 characterize the O. mykiss population in relation to the Physical Solution.

19 Snorkel surveys will be conducted in reaches of San Antonio Creek that are legally 20 accessible and have a reasonable potential to support, or recently quantified, rearing of O. mykiss 21 Survey reaches will be selected based on habitat conditions and functions (e.g., spawning and 22 rearing), locations where habitat enhancement measures are being developed (baseline surveys 23 for pre/post evaluations), and control reaches for comparison to reaches where habitat 24 enhancement measures have been implemented. Survey locations and frequency will initially be 25 based on results of prior snorkel surveys by Allen (2015) and Casitas MWD (2008 to present).

26 The species composition, abundance, geographic distribution, and life history stage
28

1 observed will be recorded during snorkel surveys. Surveys will be conducted in designated survey 2 reaches where access is permitted and will include representative habitat units identified during 3 baseline surveys (e.g., pool, riffle, and glide habitats). Additional snorkel surveys may be 4 performed prior to, and after, completion of habitat enhancement projects to provide data for 5 evaluating site-specific habitat enhancement project performance.

6 • O. mykiss Population Genetic Evaluation

7 As part of the baseline evaluations, a comprehensive O. mykiss genetic evaluation will be 8 performed that includes basin-wide population genetic structure, adaptive genetic analysis, and 9 riverscape genetic analysis. These components will be used to inform current and future actions 10 with respect to the resident and anadromous life history strategies of O. mykiss.

11 • Habitat Monitoring

12 Periodic habitat monitoring will be conducted as part of implementing and evaluating the 13 Physical Solution in order to:

- 14 • Periodically (e.g., 5-year interval) conduct habitat surveys within San Antonio 15 Creek to characterize significant changes; and
- 16 • Quantify the enhancement (e.g., change in suitable area) in habitat quality, 17 spawning and rearing habitat before and after site-specific habitat enhancement projects 18 are completed. Measurements of water depths, velocities, substrate characteristics, 19 availability of instream and over-head cover, and other habitat attributes will be made 20 before and after site-specific projects have been implemented as part of the Physical 21 Solution. Snorkel surveys will also be used to document habitat usage before and after 22 habitat enhancement actions have been completed and to compare relative densities and 23 species composition between enhancement sites and control sites where habitat 24 enhancement actions have not been implemented.

25 Habitat suitability of a stream reach for various life stages of O. mykiss can be determined, 26 in part, by the distribution, abundance, and quality of mesohabitats (e.g., pool, riffle, and glide), 27 and how these are utilized by the various life stages of O. mykiss. Quantitative habitat surveys 28

EXHIBIT F-8

1 will be conducted periodically in San Antonio creek, after substantial channel-altering flow 2 events, or at approximately 5-year intervals. Habitat conditions and suitability for O. mykiss will 3 be documented so that changes over time may be monitored. The standard CDFW habitat 4 inventory methodology will be followed per CDFW's 2010 Stream Habitat Restoration Manual, 5 Section III.

6 Information on habitat conditions and functions for O. mykiss collected following 7 implementation of Physical Solution actions, in addition to baseline habitat surveys of currently 8 existing habitat conditions conducted as part of this Monitoring Plan, will be used to select 9 representative reaches for subsequent water quality, habitat, and fish distribution and abundance 10 monitoring. Data will be collected at Level 4, which classifies habitat units into 24 specific 11 habitat types within the riffle, flatwater, and pool categories.

- 12 • Photo Points

13 Photo points will be established at habitat enhancement sites and control sites. In addition 14 to photos taken during habitat surveys and to document habitat enhancement projects, general 15 reference photos will be taken annually from specific locations in San Antonio Creek to 16 document visible habitat changes over time. This effort would occur at least annually depending 17 on specific project objectives. Photos may be taken within or outside of stream channels, 18 depending on the photo point location and the subject of interest (e.g., stream channel or reach, 19 developing riparian corridor).

- 20 • Lagoon and Estuary Breaching

21 Monitoring lagoon and estuary sandbar status may be used to determine migratory access 22 between the river and ocean. Monitoring lagoon and estuary passage conditions and breaching of 23 the sandbar would include periodic visual observations from November 1 through June 30 each 24 year following the methods currently used by Casitas MWD to determine dates of sandbar breach 25 and lagoon and estuary closure.

F.3 Performance Assessment Monitoring for Habitat Enhancement Features

Site-specific performance monitoring will be conducted in San Antonio Creek wherever habitat enhancement features are installed. In general, monitoring will be conducted using snorkel surveys for fish micro-habitat distribution, species composition, relative abundance, size distribution, and observations of fish condition. The fish surveys will be complemented by periodic habitat surveys, visual surveys, and photo-documentation, for restoration/enhancement feature installations. Performance assessments will also include habitat suitability metrics such as water depth, velocity, substrate, cover, and water quality during pre- and post-project surveys. Comparisons will be made of the pre- and post-project O. mykiss densities within an enhanced habitat area and control areas where enhancement has not been made to assess habitat utilization.

F.4 Reporting

Annual technical monitoring reports documenting hydrologic, water quality, fish, and habitat monitoring and enhancement results will be prepared in draft form and made available for public review and comment at least 30 days before being approved in final at a meeting of the Casitas MWD Board of Directors. The annual technical reports will present a summary of monitoring results of each year’s activities. For the purposes of annual reporting, the monitoring period has been defined as the water year extending from October 1 through September 30. The annual report format will be standardized. Annual reports will be publicly available in January of the year following each year of monitoring.
